

In 1918 as the Great War was coming to a close, the incompetent generals and politicians from the war began facing unrest from their populations. In Briayon, Lindonce, and many other Western European powers, had faced this unrest since 1913 when the war reached a stalemate. In the chaos, the ideology of syndicalism began to spread like wildfire. The syndicalists called for an end to the war and for peace to be made for the sake of the people. A request which was denied by their governments. Through 1918 and 1924, syndicalist revolutions sprang up in civil wars and coups, bringing the governments of Briayon, Lindonce, Chanboda, and Develtica under the control of the syndicalist worker unions.
