Excerpt from Contributions to a History of the Richmond Howitzer Battalion Pamphlet No 1 I suppose that some of you have visited the beautiful cemetery of Laurel Hill the Pere la chaise of Philadelphia and gazed at the entrance upon that exquisite memorial entablature representing Old Mortality with his chisel and mallet renewing the inscriptions upon the moss covered tombs of the Covenanters and each one has drawn his own moral from the instructive scene The Scotch and the English have long since settled their differences and harmonized into a common form of government But the memories of the great principles which led to the formation of the League of the Covenant are still cherished by the one and respected by the other of those two great peoples The founders of the Howitzer Association had in view a purpose to cherish sympathies among its members and to keep alive memories growing out of the great war between the States Whatever was wrong on which ever side in that greatest Conflict of modern history let Time bearing alms for oblivion bury amid the ruins of the past but whatever was noble and Whatever was true it is your duty and your object to preserve it in a casket of gold and transmit it as an untarnished heritage to succeeding generations We leave to the casuists and philosophers of future history to determine and settle to their own satisfaction many questions upon which the survivors of that conflict are not prepared to agree About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Contributions to a History of the Richmond Howitzer Battalion Richmond Howitzer Association,1883 Contributions to a History of the Richmond Howitzer Battalion ,2000-12-01 Compendium of the Confederate Armies: Virginia Stewart Sifakis,2009-05-01 This work is intended to be the companion set to Frederick H Dyer's Compendium of the War of the Rebellion for the Confederacy Civil War historians and genealogists with ties to Virginia will want to own this volume that details the activities of Virginia The Richmond Howitzers Lee A. Wallace,1993 The Battle of Big Bethel E. Clifford Gordon,1883 Contributions Towards a Bibliography of the Civil War in the

United States George Maurice Abbot, 1886 The Battles for Spotsylvania Court House and the Road to Yellow Tavern, May 7--12, 1864 Gordon C. Rhea, 2005-03 The second volume in Gordon C Rhea's peerless five book series on the Civil War's 1864 Overland Campaign abounds with Rhea's signature detail innovative analysis and riveting prose Here Rhea examines the maneuvers and battles from May 7 1864 when Grant left the Wilderness through May 12 when his attempt to break Lee's line by frontal assault reached a chilling climax at what is now called the Bloody Angle Drawing exhaustively upon previously untapped materials Rhea challenges conventional wisdom about this violent clash of titans to construct the ultimate account of Grant and Lee at Spotsylvania Trübner's American, European and Oriental literary record ,1886 Civil War Field Artillery Earl J. Hess, 2022-10-05 The American Civil War saw the creation of the largest most potent artillery force ever deployed in a conflict fought in the Western Hemisphere It was as sizable and powerful as any raised in prior European wars Moreover Union and Confederate artillery included the largest number of rifled pieces fielded in any conflagration in the world up to that point Earl J Hess's Civil War Field Artillery is the first comprehensive general history of the artillery arm that supported infantry and cavalry in the conflict Based on deep and expansive research it serves as an exhaustive examination with abundant new interpretations that reenvision the Civil War's military Hess explores the major factors that affected artillerists and their work including the hardware the organization of artillery power relationships between artillery officers and other commanders and the influence of environmental factors on battlefield effectiveness He also examines the lives of artillerymen the use of artillery horses manpower replacement practices effects of the widespread construction of field fortifications on artillery performance and the problems of resupplying batteries in the field In one of his numerous reevaluations Hess suggests that the early war practice of dispersing guns and assigning them to infantry brigades or divisions did not inhibit the massing of artillery power on the battlefield and that the concentration system employed during the latter half of the conflict failed to produce a greater concentration of guns In another break with previous scholarship he shows that the efficacy of fuzes to explode long range ordnance proved a problem that neither side was able to resolve during the war Indeed cumulative data on the types of projectiles fired in battle show that commanders lessened their use of the new long range exploding ordnance due to bad fuzes and instead increased their use of solid shot the oldest artillery projectile in history
