Authors by Profession. Vol 1 Victor Bonham-Carter, 1978 The Professional Literary Agent in Britain, 1880-1920 Mary Ann Gillies, 2007-01-01 Breaking new ground in the study of British literary culture during an important transitional period this new work by Mary Ann Gillies focuses on the professional literary agent whose emergence in Britain around 1880 coincided with and accelerated the transformation of both publishing and authorship Like other recent studies in book and print culture The Professional Literary Agent in Britain 1880 1920 starts from the central premise that the business of authorship is inextricably linked with the aesthetics of literary praxis Rather than provide a broad overview of the period however Gillies focuses on a specific figure the professional literary agent She then traces the influence of two prominent agents A P Watt generally acknowledged as the first professional literary agent and J B Pinker the leading figure in the second wave of agents focusing on their respective relationships with two key clients The case studies not only provide insight into the business dynamics of the literary world at this time but also illustrate the shifting definition of literature itself during the period The Novelist in the Novel Elizabeth King, 2023-11-14 Why do writers so often write about writers This book offers the first comprehensive account of the phenomenon of the fictional novelist as a character in literature arguing that our notions of literary genius and what it means to be an author are implicitly shaped by and explicitly challenged in novels about novelists a genre that has been critically underexamined Employing both close and distant reading techniques to analyse a large corpus of author stories The Novelist in the Novel explores the forms and functions of author stories and the characters within them offering a new theory that frames these works as textual sites at which questions of literary value and the cultural conceptions around authorship are constantly being negotiated and revised in a form of covert criticism aimed directly at readers While nineteenth century novels about novelists reveal a pervasive frustration with the market a starving artist vs commercial sell out dichotomy modernist examples of the genre focus on the development of the individual author as artist entirely aloof from the marketplace and from the literary sphere at large Yet each of these dynamics is gendered with women denigrated to commercial producers and men elevated to artists and while the canon has largely supported the male view of authorship a closer look at the work of women writers from this period reveals concerted attempts to counteract it Silly Lady Novelists are pitted against serious male modernists in a battle to define what it means to be a literary genius A History of British Publishing John Feather, 1988 Covers the whole period in which books have been printed in Britain from copying manuscripts to the Net Book Agreement Power and the Professions in Britain 1700-1850 Penelope J Corfield, Penelope J. Corfield, 2012-10-12 The modern professions have a long history that predates the development of formal institutions and examinations in the nineteenth century Long before the Victorian era the emergent professions wielded power through their specialist knowledge and set up informal mechanisms of control and self regulation Penelope Corfield devotes a chapter each to lawyers clerics and doctors and makes reference to many other professionals teachers apothecaries governesses army officers and others She shows how as the professions gained in power and influence so they were challenged increasingly by satire and ridicule Corfield's analysis of the rise of the professions during this period centres on a discussion of the philosophical questions arising from the complex relationship between power and knowledge The Formation of the Victorian Literary Profession Richard Salmon, 2013-06-27

Richard Salmon provides an original account of the formation of the literary profession during the late Romantic and early Victorian periods Focusing on the representation of authors in narrative and iconographic texts including novels biographies sketches and portrait galleries Salmon traces the emergence of authorship as a new form of professional identity from the 1820s to the 1850s Many first generation Victorian writers including Carlyle Dickens Thackeray Martineau and Barrett Browning contributed to contemporary debates on the Dignity of Literature professional heroism and the cultural visibility of the man of letters This study combines a broad mapping of the early Victorian literary field with detailed readings of major texts The book argues that the key model of professional development within this period is embodied in the narrative form of literary apprenticeship which inspired such celebrated works as David Copperfield and Aurora Leigh and that its formative process is the disenchantment of the author Singular Texts/plural Authors Lisa S. Ede, Andrea A. Lunsford, 1992 Why write together the authors ask They answer that question here in the first book to combine theoretical and historical explorations with actual research on collaborative and group writing Lisa Ede and Andrea Lunsford challenge the assumption that writing is a solitary act That challenge is grounded in their own personal experience as long term collaborators and in their extensive research including a three stage study of collaborative writing supported by the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education The authors urge a fundamental change in our institutions to accommodate collaboration by radically resituating power in the classroom and by instituting rewards for collaborative work that equal rewards for single authored work They conclude with the injunction Today and in the twenty first century our data suggest writers must be able to work together They must in short be able to collaborate Edinburgh History of the Book in Scotland, Volume 4:

Professionalism and Diversity 1880-2000 David Finkelstein, 2007-11-23 In this volume a range of distinguished contributors provide an original analysis of the book in Scotland during a period that has been until now greatly under researched and little understood The issues covered by this volume include the professionalisation of publishing its scale technological developments the role of the state including the library service the institutional structure of the book in Scotland industrial relations union activity and organisation women and the Scottish book and the economics of publishing Separate chapters cover Scottish publishing and literary culture publishing genres the art of print culture distribution and authors and readers The volume also includes an innovative use of illustrative case studies Perioperative Nursing Sally Sutherland-Fraser, Menna Davies, Brigid M.
