Desire To Learn Selected Writings:

A Desire to Learn Eric Moon, 1993 a readable survey of many of the issues that have faced our profession over the past decades on which Eric Moon spoke out including Vietnam fees for library services and segregation in libraries and library associations AMERICAN LIBRARIES I would commend the volume to anyone who believes libraries and librarianship have a real role and value in society JOURNAL OF LIBRARIANSHIP AND INFORMATION SCIENCE KABBALAH - Selected Writings Bernhard Pick, Nurho de Manhar, Abelson, S. Collected Writings on Education and Drama Dorothy Heathcote, 1991-08 What does it mean to be an excellent teacher To Dorothy Heathcote one of this century's most respected educational innovators it means seeing one's pupils as they really are shunning labels and stereotypes It means taking risks putting aside one's comfortable doctrinaire role and participating fully in the learning process Above all it means pushing oneself and one's students to the outer limits of capability often with miraculous results In this lively collection of essays and talks from 1967-80 Heathcote shares the findings of her groundbreaking work in the application of theater techniques and play to classroom teaching She provides a time tested philosophy on the value of dramatic activity in breaking down barriers and overcoming inertia Her insistence that teachers must step down from their pedestals and immerse themselves in the possibility of the moment makes for magical and challenging reading

Collected Writings From Soka University of America Tim Janakos, Selected Works of St. John Chrysostom St. John Chrysostom, Chrysostom's career is one more exemplification of the perennial conflict between the Church and the world The Church is to act as the salt of the earth the city set on a hill the light of the world the temple of the Living God her ideals will always be too high even for the saints to attain but it is the few who reach forth unto those things which are before that raise the average attainments of mankind Yet she must not break the bruised reed or quench the smoking flax by pitching her requirements too high for the practical use of the ordinary man living in the world and condemning things which God hath not condemned She may neither make the heart of the righteous sad nor strengthen the hands of the wicked by promising them life Thus the problem before the Church at all times is to steer her way between the two extremes of undue severity and compliant subservience Hence men of different temperaments will form different judgments upon Chrysostom's career One temperament is all for severity sometimes with the highest motives sometimes unconsciously it may be otherwise it demands asceticism in life rigour in doctrine strictness in the enjoyment of the pleasures of the world Another with high or again perhaps unconsciously with low motives thinks that men may best be won by being content with a low standard with an eye to the possibilities of the multitude rather than of the few it seeks to teach that all worldly things are gifts of God richly given us to enjoy The first condemns the second as truckling to the world the second looks upon the first as a dreamer of vain dreams The first rebukes out of season as well as in season the second marvels at his want of tact There can be no doubt which is the point of view taken in this Dialogue Records of events which so deeply stirred the hearts of men are naturally coloured by the prejudices of their writers it is hard to believe that all the denunciations of Chrysostom's enemies contained in the treatise were truly deserved The strong common sense shown in Chrysostom's writings though sometimes obscured by extravagance of expression and ignorance of economic laws in regard to the riches the pomps and the vanities of the world generally preserved him from the bitterness with which his disciple denounces them But those who fall short of our author's ideal have leaped upon the ministry dealt deceitfully with the word of God and perverted the Christian teaching No language is too strong the priest who has not the virtues of the monk is worthy only of a company of satyrs or a priesthood of Dionysus True the sword could not be blunt or the bold word be left unspoken and Chrysostom did indeed lift up his voice more clearly than a trumpet Yet in spite of Palladius' defence of Chrysostom's zeal it is difficult to rise from the study of the various records without forming the conclusion that in regard to Eudoxia he spoke unadvisedly with his lips it seems impossible to doubt that the charges of comparing her publicly to Jezebel and Herodias were founded on fact Because his eloquence had stirred the populace to reform and he had the support of many warm friends he thought himself like Savonarola in later days strong enough to attack her and the shining of his light in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation was extinguished for ever Was he right or wrong We answer the question according to our respective temperaments Yet whatever be our judgment we know that the world does after all respect high ideals and unconsciously is raised by them though it may seem to go on its own way and prefer to join in the censure upon the outspoken tongue

Oliphant's most significant work Darker and more politically motivated than the more comic Chronicles of Carlingford they show Oliphant at the height of her writing powers. Money, financial crises and social and sexual inequality all feature strongly in these works which find Oliphant sharply critical of materialistic late Victorian culture. They mirror her own experiences as a female professional writer having to support her family single handedly. They also form some of her most popular and enduring works which gained a wide readership through serialization. The significance of Oliphant as a writer can only be fully appreciated by close study of these novels which bring to completion this major twenty five volume scholarly edition.

Selected Essays and Letters National Assessment of Educational Progress (Project), 1972 Grace Aguilar: Selected Writings Grace Aguilar, 2003-04-07 For the first time in over a century this edition makes available the work of the most important Jewish writer in early and mid-Victorian Britain. Grace Aguilar 1816-1847 broke new literary ground by writing from the unique perspective of an Anglo-Jewish woman. Aguilar's writing responds to English representations of Jews and women by writers such as Felicia Hemans, Maria Edgeworth, Sir Walter Scott and Thomas Macaulay. She both assimilates and alters the genres of historical romance, dramatic monologue, domestic fiction, history and midrash among others. This edition includes Aguilar's novella The Perez Family in its entirety, the Sephardic historical romance The Escape, her Sephardic historical romance History of the Jews in England, the first such history ever written by a Jew, major poems, excerpts from The Women of Israel and Aguilar's Frankfurt journal, never before published. Also included are primary source materials such as writings on the Jewish question from Aguilar's non-Jewish contemporaries, tributes and memoirs and contemporary responses to her work.
