Contemporary New Testament Studies, 1965 Changing the Goalpost of New Testament Textual Criticism Abidan Paul Shah, 2020-10-02 Before the 1960s the goal of New Testament Textual Criticism was singular to retrieve the original text of the New Testament Since then the goalpost has incrementally shifted away from the original text to retrieving any text or many texts of the NT Some scholars have even concluded that the original text is hopelessly lost and cannot be retrieved with any confidence or accuracy Other scholars have gone a step further to claim that the idea of an original text itself is a misconception that needs to be abandoned If this new approach in NTTC is correct then the authority of Scripture is weakened or no longer valid It will be shown in this book that such is not the case Furthermore emphasis will be placed on the need to return to the traditional goalpost of NTTC i.e. to retrieve the original text Without a generally definitive text the door will be left wide open to recreate any desired text of the NT An unsettled original text will result in an unsettled biblical theology due to a lack of any authoritative and standard text Consequently it will lead to an unsettled Christian faith and practice critical text and an annotated English translation of Wettstein's text critical principles Sources and Interpretations

Spaw, Archie T. Wright, 2011-11-10 This book considers the academic treatment of biblical interpretation in the renewal movement the fastest growing tradition in Christendom today The initial chapter surveys the history of biblical interpretation in the renewal tradition and provides a conceptual basis for the book In Part II six renewal scholars outline a proposal for the future of biblical hermeneutics in the tradition These authors address certain key questions What is the role of the Holy Spirit in biblical interpretation What are the distinctive presuppositions methods and goals of renewal biblical hermeneutics Three prominent biblical scholars Craig G Bartholomew James D G Dunn R Walter L Moberly respond to the proposals outlined above These critical responses deepen the examination of renewal biblical hermeneutics as well as increase its appeal to biblical and theological scholars in general The final chapter offers a synthesis and evaluation of the accomplishments of the discussion as well as an assessment of the state of the discipline with an eye toward the future Early Christian Interpretation of the Scriptures of Israel Craig A.

Evans, James A. Sanders, 1997-09-01 This book explores the ways in which early Christian writers and communities from late antiquity through the New Testament period interpreted the scriptures of Israel as they sought to understand Jesus and the Gospel in relation to God's revelation and past acts in history These essays represent work on the growing edge of studies of the relationship of the Old Testament to the New Testament The contents authored by both veteran and younger scholars treat methods and canons Jesus and the Gospels and Acts and the Epistles Luke (Paideia: Commentaries on the New Testament) Mikeal C. Parsons, 2015-02-10 Mikeal Parsons a leading scholar on Luke and Acts examines cultural context and theological meaning in Luke in this addition to the well received Paideia series This commentary like each in the projected eighteen volume series proceeds by sense units rather than word by word or verse by verse Paideia commentaries explore how New Testament texts form Christian readers by attending to the ancient narrative and rhetorical strategies the text employs showing how the text shapes theological convictions and moral habits and making judicious use of maps photos and sidebars in a reader friendly format Rhetoric and Theology William M. Wright, 2009 This monograph on John 9 makes extensive use of premodern Christian exegesis as a resource for New Testament studies The study reframes the existing critique of the two level reading of John 9 as allegory in terms of premodern exegetical practices It offers a hermeneutical critique of the two level reading strategy as a kind of figural exegesis rather than historical reconstruction through an extensive comparison with Augustine's interpretation of John 9 A review of several premodern Christian readings of John 9 suggests an alternative way of understanding this account in terms of Greco Roman rhetoric John 9 resembles the rhetorical argumentation associated with chreia elaboration and the complete argument to display Jesus identity as the Light of the World This analysis illustrates the inseparability of form and content rhetoric and theology in the Fourth Gospel
