Contributions to the Textual Criticism of the Divina Commedia Edward Moore, 2015-08-04 Excerpt from Contributions to the textual Criticism of the Divina Commedia Including the Complete Collation Throughout the Inferno of All the Mss at Oxford and Cambridge This work which has been the labour of several years and has been carried on amidst the pressure and interruption of many other duties and engagements has at last reached not indeed completeness but a convenient halting place Completeness must necessarily be out of the question when the mss known to exist are between 500 and 600 in number but nearly half of that total having in the case of the more important passages been examined it seemed likely that the evidence thus collected would be a sufficient sample of the whole so that the results and conclusions obtained from such materials would not be likely to be much altered by the examination of an increased number of mss As Dante himself says molte volte taglia Piu emeglio una che le cinque spade Par xvi 72 The manner in which this part of the work I mean the collation of selected passages has entirely outgrown my original purpose is accountable for the I fear rather inconvenient system of nomenclature by which the Mss have been referred to About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works New Testament Textual Criticism and Exegesis Joël Delobel, 2002 For many years Professor Joel Delobel has served as a member of the Department of Biblical Studies of the Faculty of Theology K U Leuven 1969 2001 His research has tended to focus on Luke Acts Pauline Literature and especially Textual Criticism he is a member of Das Institut für Neutestamentliche Textforschung Münster His
