century utopian locus in the light of racial theories attached to the country's national framework. In particular, it investigates the ways in which five nineteenth-century travellers define their national identity and gender in relation to Iceland during the Victorian period, during which European nationalism emerges as an idea of paramount importance. Owing to the gradual contemplation of this peripheral word as the cradle of the Germanic nations, Victorian travel writers endeavoured to reconstruct the image of Iceland in accordance with the racial theoretical framework that underlay the nineteenth-century British nation-building agenda.

The Christian Advocate, 1929 The Academy, 1893 American Indian Stereotypes in the World of Children Arlene Hirschfelder, Paulette F. Molin, Yvonne Wakim, Michael A. Dorris, 1999-07-01

The world of contemporary American infants and young children is saturated with inappropriate images of American Indians. American Indian Stereotypes in the World of Children reveals and discusses these images and cultural stereotypes through writings like Kathy Kerner's previously unpublished essay on Thanksgiving and an essay by Dr. Cornell Pewewardy on Disney's Pocahontas film. This edition incorporates new writings and recent developments such as a chronology documenting changes associated with the mascot issue along with information on state legislation. Other new material incorporates powerful commentary by Native American veterans who speak to the issue of stereotyping against their people in the military. Also includes a new expanded annotated bibliography.

The Monthly Anthology, and Boston Review, 1809 Language and Enlightenment Avi Lifschitz, 2012-09-27

Highlights the importance of language in the social theory, epistemology, and aesthetics of the Enlightenment. Argues that awareness of the historicity and linguistic rootedness of all forms of life was a mainstream Enlightenment notion rather than a feature of the so-called Counter Enlightenment.
