Contemporary Issues in Law Enforcement and Policing Andrew Millie Ph.D.,Dilip K. Das,2008-05-28 Rising terrorism and advances in technology along with new organizational strategies and investigative techniques have stretched the traditional role of the police officer Calls for strong intelligence driven paramilitary policing juxtaposed with a demand for softer community policing leave officers under increased pressure to be tough and The Racialisation of British Policing Simon Holdaway,1996-03-06 Drawing extensively on his own and others research Simon Holdaway argues that to understand manifestations of race within and outside the police we need to analyse processes of racialisation previously ignored by the untheoretical emphases of much of criminology Importantly he analyses how race is manifested within the organisational and cultural contexts of British policing Laced with quotations from research contemporary policy documents and other sources this is a graphic and compelling account of racialised relations within police work which will appeal to students on a very wide range of social science degrees from sociology to police studies Books in Series ,1985 Vols for 1980 issued in three parts Series Authors and Titles Understanding and Preventing Violence, Volume 3 National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Panel on the Understanding and Control of Violent Behavior,1994-02-01 This volume examines social influences on violent events and violent behavior particularly concentrating on how the risks of violent criminal offending and victimization are influenced by communities social situations and individuals the role of spouses and intimates the differences in violence levels between males and females and the roles of psychoactive substances in violent events Building a Black Criminology, Volume 24 James D. Unnever,Shaun L. Gabbidon,Cecilia Chouhy,2018-10-26 In light of the Black Lives Matter movement and protests in many cities race plays an ever more salient role in crime and justice Within theoretical criminology however race has oddly remained on the periphery It is often introduced as a control variable in tests of theories and is rarely incorporated as a central construct in mainstream paradigms e g control social learning and strain theories When race is discussed the standard approach is to embrace the racial invariance thesis which argues that any racial differences in crime are due to African Americans being exposed to the same criminogenic risk factors as are Whites just more of them An alternative perspective has emerged that seeks to identify the unique racially specific conditions that only Blacks experience Within the United States these conditions are rooted in the historical racial oppression experienced by African Americans whose contemporary legacy includes concentrated disadvantage in segregated communities racial socialization by parents experiences with and perceptions of racial discrimination and disproportionate involvement in and unjust treatment by the criminal justice system Importantly racial invariance and race specificity are not mutually exclusive perspectives Evidence exists that Blacks and Whites commit crimes for both the same reasons invariance and for different reasons race specific A full understanding of race and crime thus must involve demarcating both the general and specific causes of crime the latter embedded in what it means to be Black in the United States This volume seeks to explore these theoretical issues in a depth and breadth that is not common under one cover Again given the salience of race and crime this volume should be of interest to a wide range of criminologists and have the potential to be used in graduate seminars and upper level undergraduate courses Criminal Justice Research Barbara R. Price,Phyllis Jo Baunach,1980-11 SNJ National Criminal Justice Reference Service (U.S.),1979 Public Administration Series--Bibliography ,1983-09

Measurement Issues in Criminal Justice Gordon P. Waldo,1983-11 Waldo and his colleagues address a problem typical of criminological research attaining reliability and validity in measuring data obtained under imperfectly controlled conditions They discuss appropriate operational definitions to use in measuring concepts the selection of samples items and the data collection process together with the differing forms of analysis The book is a copious source of insights into measurement challenges in the social sciences The Age of Sex Crime Jane Caputi,1987 The sexualized serial murder of women by men is the subject of this provocative book Jane Caputi argues that the sensationalized murders by men such as Jack the Ripper Son of Sam Hillside Strangler and the Yorkshire Ripper represent a contemporary genre of sexually political crimes The awful deeds function as a form of patriarchal terrorism disappearing women at a rate of some four thousand annually in the United States alone Caputi asks us not only to name the phenomenon of sexually political murder but to recognize sex crime in all of its various interconnecting manifestations Library Information Bulletin ,1975 Improving Management in Criminal Justice Alvin W.
