

How do we measure the effectiveness of a program? We measure the effectiveness of a program by comparing the results of the program to the results of a control group. The control group is a group of people who are not receiving the program, but who are otherwise similar to the people receiving the program. We can measure the effectiveness of a program in a number of ways. We can measure the effectiveness of a program by looking at the number of people who are receiving the program, the number of people who are not receiving the program, the number of people who are receiving the program and are also receiving the control group, and the number of people who are receiving the program and are not receiving the control group.

Which of the following is the best method for measuring the effectiveness of a program?

- ☐ A. Randomized control trial
- ☐ B. Survey
- ☐ C. Focus group
- ☐ D. Case study
