from the medical profession to the fine arts pleaded guilty to systemic racism How else explain why blacks are overrepresented in prisons and underrepresented in C suites and faculty lounges their leaders asked The official answer for those disparities is disparate impact a once obscure legal theory that is now transforming our world Any traditional standard of behavior or achievement that impedes exact racial proportionality in any enterprise is now presumed racist Medical school admissions tests expectations of scientific accomplishment in the award of research grants the enforcement of the criminal law all are under assault because they have a disparate impact on underrepresented minorities When Race Trumps Merit provides an alternative explanation for those racial disparities It is large academic skills gaps that cause the lack of proportional representation in our most meritocratic organizations and large differences in criminal offending that account for the racially disproportionate prison population The need for such a corrective argument could not be more urgent Federal science agencies now treat researchers skin color as a scientific qualification Museums and orchestras choose which art and music to promote based on race Police officers avoid making arrests and prosecutors decline to bring charges to avoid disparate impact on minority criminals When Race Trumps Merit breaks powerful taboos But it is driven by a sense of alarm supported by detailed case studies of how disparate impact thinking is jeopardizing scientific progress destroying public order and poisoning the appreciation of art and culture As long as alleged racism remains the only allowable explanation for racial differences we will continue tearing down excellence and putting lives as well as civilizational achievement at risk

Current Streams in American Art Education Elena

Polyudova, 2018-04-18 This book analyses the modern approaches in American art education from historical and comparative perspectives. It observes the general principles of teaching the fine arts in the USA, exploring the ideas of visual culture studies, modern generational characteristics and social educational factors as part of the current educational environment. Based on a wide variety of academic and practical sources, the book considers the transformation of the aesthetic experience, the general concept of art education in the modern multicultural milieu. To illustrate the current streams in contemporary American art pedagogy, it embraces a broad spectrum of references including the classification of art museums in the USA and museums school projects.

Native American Art in the Twentieth Century W. Jackson Rushing III, 2013-09-27 This illuminating and provocative book is the first anthology devoted to Twentieth Century Native American and First Nation art. Native American Art brings together anthropologists, art historians, curators, critics, and distinguished Native artists to discuss pottery, painting, sculpture, printmaking, photography, and performance art by some of the most celebrated Native American and Canadian First Nation artists of our time. The contributors use new theoretical and critical approaches to address key issues for Native American art, including symbolism and spirituality, the role of patronage and museum practices, the politics of art criticism, and the aesthetic power of indigenous knowledge. The artist contributors, who represent several Native nations including Cherokee, Lakota, Plains Cree, and those of the Plateau country, emphasise the importance of traditional stories, mythologies, and ceremonies in the production of contemporary art. Within great poignancy, they write about recent art in terms of home, homeland, and aboriginal sovereignty. Tracing the continued resistance of Native artists to dominant orthodoxies of the art market and art history, Native American Art in the Twentieth Century argues forcefully for Native art's place in modern art history.

American Artists Engage the Built Environment, 1960-1979 Susanneh Bieber, 2023-07-31 This volume reframes the development of US American avant-garde art of the long 1960s from minimal and pop art to land art, conceptual art, site-specific practices, and feminist art in the context of contemporary architectural discourses. Susanneh Bieber analyzes the work of seven major artists: Donald Judd, Robert Grosvenor Claes Oldenburg, Robert Rauschenberg, Lawrence Weiner, Gordon Matta Clark, and Mary Miss, who were closely associated with the formal aesthetic innovations of the period. While these individual artists came to represent diverse movements, Bieber argues that all of them were attracted to the field of architecture, the work of architects, engineers, preservationists, landscape designers, and urban planners, because they believed these practices more directly shaped the social and material spaces of everyday life. This book's contribution to the field of art history is thus twofold. First, it shows that the avant-garde of the long 1960s did not simply develop according to an internal logic of art but also as part of broader sociocultural discourses about buildings and cities. Second, it exemplifies a methodological synthesis between social art history and poststructural formalism that is foundational to understanding the role of art in the construction of a more just and egalitarian society. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art
