Considine, Glenn D. Considine, 2013-12-11 Advancements in science and engineering have occurred at a surprisingly rapid pace since the release of the seventh edition of this encyclopedia Large portions of the reference have required comprehensive rewriting and new illustrations Scores of new topics have been included to create this thoroughly updated eighth edition The appearance of this new edition in 1994 marks the continuation of a tradition commenced well over a half century ago in 1938 Van Nostrand's Scientific Encyclopedia First Edition was published and welcomed by educators worldwide at a time when what we know today as modern science was just getting underway The early encyclopedia was well received by students and educators alike during a critical time span when science became established as a major factor in shaping the progress and economy of individual nations and at the global level A vital need existed for a permanent science reference that could be updated periodically and made conveniently available to audiences that numbered in the millions The pioneering VNSE met these criteria and continues today as a reliable technical information source for making private and public decisions that present a backdrop of technical alternatives Oxford Dictionary of English Angus Stevenson, 2010-08-19 19 pages of contents in middle of book between end of L and beginning of M Sustainable Agriculture in the Era of the OMICs Revolution Channa S. Prakash, Sajid Fiaz, Muhammad Azhar Nadeem, Faheem Shehzad Baloch, Abdul Qayyum, 2023-01-01 Access to food with enough calories and nutrients is a fundamental right of every human The global population has exceeded 7.8 billion and is expected to pass 10 billion by 2055 Such rapid population increase presents a great challenge for food supply More grain production is needed to provide basic calories for humans Thus it is crucial to produce 60-110% more food to fill the gap between food production and the demand of future generations Meanwhile food nutritional values are of increasing interest to accommodate industrialized modern lives The instability of food production caused by global climate change presents another great challenge The global warming rate has become more rapid in recent decades with more frequent extreme climate change including higher temperatures drought and floods Our world faces various unprecedented scenarios such as rising temperatures which causes melting glaciers and the resulting various biotic and abiotic stresses ultimately leading to food scarcity In these circumstances it is of utmost importance to examine the genetic basis and extensive utilization of germplasm to develop climate resilient cultivars through the application of plant breeding and biotechnological tools Future crops must adapt to these new and unpredictable environments Crop varieties resistant to biotic and abiotic stresses are also needed as plant disease insects drought high and low temperature stresses are expected to be impacted by climate change Thus we need a food production system that can simultaneously satisfy societal demands and long term development Since the Green Revolution in the 1960s farming has been heavily dependent on high input of nitrogen and pesticides This leads to environmental pollution which is not sustainable in the long run Therefore a new breeding scheme is urgently needed to enable sustainable agriculture including new strategies to develop varieties and crops that have high yield potential high yield stability and superior grain quality and nutrition while also using less consumption of water fertilizer and chemicals in light of environmental protection While we face these challenges we also have great opportunities especially with flourishing developments in omics technologies High quality reference genomes are becoming available for a larger number of species with some species having more than one reference genome The genome wide re sequencing of diverse varieties enables the identification of core and pan genomes An integration of omics data will enable a rapid and high throughput identification of many genes simultaneously for a relevant trait This will change our current research paradigm fundamentally from single gene analysis to pathway or network analysis This will also expand our understanding of crop domestication and improvement In addition with the knowledge gained from omics data in combination with new technologies like targeted gene editing we can breed new varieties and crops for sustainable agriculture
