P. Chang, 1989 Architectural Drafting and Construction Ernest R. Weidhaas, 1989 Adult Education in Transition Burton R. Clark, 2023-07-28 This sociological analysis examines the adult education system in California exploring its development over the past 25 years as a distinct entity within the public education framework The study approaches adult education not only from an educational perspective but through a sociological lens assessing the influence of organizational and institutional pressures on its evolution Central to this work is the idea that educational values and functions are shaped by the broader organizational dynamics within which they operate By investigating how adult schools adapt to external and internal forces the study aims to provide insights into both the unique challenges faced by adult education institutions and broader sociological theories of institutional change One key focus of the study is the concept of organizational adaptation wherein the adult school has had to adjust to pressures from its environment including legislative demands public expectations and administrative constraints This adaptive process is not simply reactive it also shapes the institution's mission and functions gradually fostering a service oriented model that aligns closely with the needs of the community This service orientation is reflected in how adult schools develop and sustain their programs often with significant input from the students and community members they serve Such responsiveness marks a departure from traditional educational models and offers a compelling case study in how institutions adapt to remain relevant and effective within public school systems Furthermore the study identifies the structural and environmental factors that drive this shift toward a service based model

Key among these are the marginal status of adult education within the larger public school system the evolving purposes of adult education since the early 20th century and legislative influences that shape the policies and practices of adult schools Through an examination of historical context policy frameworks and empirical data from specific case studies particularly within the Los Angeles area this study reveals the complex interplay between organizational adaptation and educational mission ultimately proposing that adult education institutions serve as valuable models for understanding the adaptive functions of public organizations in response to societal demands This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1968 Catalog University of Virginia.
