Partisan warfare and gridlock in Washington threaten to squander America's opportunity to show the world that democracy can solve serious economic problems and ensure widely shared prosperity Instead of working together to meet the challenges ahead an aging work force exploding inequality climate change rising debt our elected leaders are sabotaging our economic future by blaming and demonizing each other in hopes of winning big in the next election They are weakening America's capacity for world leadership and the case for democracy here and abroad Alice M Rivlin with decades of experience in economic policy making argues that proven economic policies could lead to sustainable American prosperity and opportunity for all but crafting them requires the tough time consuming work of consensus building and bipartisan negotiation In a divided country with shifting majorities major policies must have bipartisan buy in and broad public support Otherwise we will have either destabilizing swings in policy or total gridlock in the face of challenges looming at us Rivlin believes that Americans can and must save our hyper partisan politicians from themselves She makes the case that on many practical economic issues the public is far less divided than partisan politicians and sensationalist media would have us believe She draws attention to numerous hopeful efforts to bridge partisan and ideological divides in Washington in state capitols and city governments and communities around the country and advocates a major national effort to enable citizens and future leaders to learn and practice the art of listening to each other and working together to find common ground This book is a practical guide for Americans across the political spectrum who are agonizing over partisan warfare incivility and policy gridlock and looking for ways they can help to get our democratic policy process back on a constructive track before it is too late Congressional Record United States. Popular calls to transform our current welfare system and supplant it with effective and inexpensive faith based providers are gaining political support and engendering heated debate about the separation of church and state Yet we lack concrete information from which to anticipate how such initiatives might actually work if adopted Despite the assumption that congregations can help many needy people in our society it remains to be seen how extensive they wish their involvement to be or if they have the necessary tools to become significant providers in the social service arena Moreover how will such practices which will move faith based organizations towards professionalization ultimately affect the spirit of volunteerism now prevalent in America's religious institutions We lack sufficient knowledge about congregational life and its ability to play a key role in social service provision The Invisible Caring Hand attempts to fill that void Based on in depth interviews with clergy and lay leaders in 251 congregations nationwide it reveals the many ways in which congregations are already working beneath the radar to care for people in need This ground breaking volume will provide much sought empirical data to social scientists religious studies scholars and those involved in the debates over the role of faith based organizations in faith based services as well as to clergy and congregation members themselves Hearing on H.R. 2039, the Job Training Partnership Act Amendments of 1989 United States.
