Drawing Francesca Fiorani,2020-11-17 Insightful and beautiful A wonderful study of how Leonardo s art and science are interwoven Walter Isaacson author of Leonardo Da Vinci A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice Shortly after Leonardo da Vinci s death his peers and rivals created the myth of the two Leonardos there was Leonardo the artist and then later in life Leonardo the scientist In this pathbreaking biographical interpretation the art historian Francesca Fiorani tells a very different and much more interesting story Taking a fresh look at Leonardo s celebrated but challenging notebooks and other sources Fiorani shows that Leonardo became fluent in science when he was still young man As an apprentice in a Florence studio he was especially interested in the science of optics He aspired to use this knowledge to capture as no artist before him had ever done the interior lives of his subjects to paint the human soul in its smallest tenderest motions and vicissitudes And then he hoped to take one further step to gather his scientific knowledge together in a book that would be even more important than his paintings In The Shadow Drawing Fiorani revises our understanding of Leonardo the artist s most renowned paintings and reconstructs the wisdom Leonardo the author hoped to impart The result is both a stirring biography and a bold reconsideration of how the Renaissance understood science and art and of what was lost when the two were sundered Fiorani s lively intellectual adventure gives us new understanding and appreciation of Leonardo s cross fertilization of art and science It is a perceptive biography of Leonardo exploring the frontiers of science but also a brilliantly informative guide to his paintings Ross King author of Brunelleschi s Dome Leonardo and the Last Supper and Mad Enchantment

Charlotte Brunsdon, 2019-07-25 Charlotte Brunsdon's illuminating study explores the variety of cinematic Londons that appear in films made since 1945 Brunsdon traces the familiar ways that film makers establish that a film is set in London by use of recognisable landmarks and the city's shorthand iconography of red buses and black taxis as well as the ways in which these icons are avoided She looks at London weather fog and rain and everyday locations like the pub and the housing estate while also examining the recurring patterns of representation associated with films set in the East and West Ends of London from Spring in Park Lane 1948 to Mona Lisa 1986 and from Night and the City 1950 to From Hell 2001 Brunsdon provides a detailed analysis of a selection of films exploring their contribution to the cinematic geography of London and showing the ways in which feature films have responded to and created changing views of the city She traces London's transformation from imperial capital to global city through the different ways in which the local is imagined in films ranging from Ealing comedies to Pressure 1974 as well as through the shifting imagery of the River Thames and the Docks She addresses the role of cinematic genres such as horror and film noir in the constitution of the cinematic city as well as the recurrence of figures such as the cockney the gangster and the housewife Challenging the view that London is not a particularly cinematic city Brunsdon demonstrates that many London set films offer their own meditation on the complex relationships between the cinema and the city
