This comprehensive introductory textbook gives students the framework and tools to become great debaters and use those skills to further civil and respectful responses on contentious topics. Focusing on core concepts and skills of research, reasoning and argumentation with a special focus on debate rhythms, the book builds students' ability to express ideas and respectfully dissent, ultimately improving their individual resilience in adverse circumstances and encouraging the emergence of communal values in society. An Invitation to Debate takes students on a step-by-step preparation of case research, speech composition, rebuttals and resolutions. Conflict in Personal Relationships Dudley D. Cahn, 2013-12-16. In keeping with a broad conception of interpersonal conflict, this book is organized into two parts. The first focuses on conflict in different types of couple relationships: homosexual, cross-cultural, dating but violent, engaged and married, and group relationships: student-peers, parents and their young children, and adult children and their aging parents. The chapters not only review past research on conflict in some relationships but also take a significant step forward in introducing a variety of other relationship types for future research on conflict. These chapters also offer evidence that conflict is experienced differently in different types of interpersonal relationships. The second part of this book describes basic underlying principles and programs for dealing with interpersonal conflicts. Chapters in this section discuss patterns of argument in everyday life, issues associated with competence in interpersonal conflict and mediation as a form of intervention for resolution.
