current architectural practice Standard Letters in Architectural Practice David Chappell, 2008-04-15 Architects and contract administrators spend a great deal of time writing letters of various types. Many of them are routine and repetitive in character but they require proper consideration if potentially dangerous liability situations are to be avoided. This book provides some 285 standard letters for use at all stages of project administration. To assist the user they are grouped into sections which correspond with the RIBA Plan of Work. The aim is to cover all the common situations encountered in practice. The book has been revised to take account of the latest contract revisions and many letters have been added. Unless otherwise stated all letters are suitable for use with JCT 98 WCD 98 IFC 98 MW 98 GC Works 1 1998. The latest edition also takes account of the three new RIBA Standard Forms of Agreement for Appointment of an Architect SFA 99 CE 99 and SW 99. Although primarily written for architects and contract administrators the book will also be of use to project managers and employers' agents under WCD 98. Sullivan, Gregory Palermo, 2000-03-07 From theory to practice a unique well rounded guide to ethics for today's architect. How does an architect assist a community in evaluating alternative designs? When it comes to questions like these making decisions about what ought to be done or what is the best or right solution requires more than sound technical knowledge and strong design talent. It demands a solid understanding of the ethical issues that lie at the heart of architectural practice. Ethics and the Practice of Architecture offers a complete broad based introduction to this crucial subject. First it examines basic ethical theories and their application to architecture and discusses different ways of identifying ethical content in architecture.

Bridging the gap between theory and practice the second part of the book surveys different professional settings and building project processes that frequently hold ethical concerns and charts the ethical mandates that arise from them In the final section of the book thirty case studies explore a wide range of ethical dilemmas encountered in architectural practice with useful guidance on how to work through them effectively Arranged by topics that span the key phases of a project from pre design through post occupancy evaluation these case studies allow a detailed look at ethical concerns in real life situations where multiple issues are often at stake Providing a practical framework for the exploration of ethical issues in architecture today Ethics and the Practice of Architecture is an excellent resource for present and future architects in all areas of the field
