

End of Study: The Researcher's Responsibility

Topic	Definition
Market failure	A state where the market mechanism allocates resources inefficiently because of some factor that causes the market to fail. This can be due to externalities, public goods, or imperfect information.
Externality	An effect of an activity on a third party that is not reflected in the market price. Externalities can be positive (beneficial) or negative (harmful).
Public good	A good that is non-excludable and non-rivalrous. Non-excludable means that it is difficult to prevent anyone from using it, and non-rivalrous means that one person's use does not diminish another's.
Market efficiency	A state where resources are allocated in a way that maximizes total welfare. This occurs when the marginal benefit of a good equals its marginal cost.
Government intervention	A policy or action taken by the government to correct market failures or achieve social goals. Examples include taxes, subsidies, and regulations.
Welfare	A measure of the well-being of individuals or society as a whole. It can be measured in terms of income, consumption, or utility.
Equilibrium	A state where the forces of supply and demand are balanced, and there is no net change in the quantity of a good or service. It is often represented by the intersection of supply and demand curves.
Market structure	A description of the characteristics of a market, such as the number of firms, the degree of competition, and the nature of the products. Examples include perfect competition, monopoly, and oligopoly.
