Rêver l'archéologie au XIXe siècle Eric Perrin-Saminadayer, Centre Jean Palerne, 2001. Le XIXe siècle a donné l'archéologie ses lettres de noblesse apparue alors sous la forme d'une discipline scientifique avec ses codes et sa méthode. Elle fait galement irruption dans la littérature du siècle. La représentation et l'enseignement de l'Antiquité en sont profondément modifiés. L'Antiquité qui se présentait jusque-là comme une réalité verbale et toujours médiatisée par la littérature avec au premier chef le rôle des Humanités et des langues anciennes devient un objet d'étude relevant de la science et du concret. D'où une confrontation et une crise des imaginaires dont on peut trouver une preuve dans l'extraordinaire résistance de l'Université à intégrer les découvertes nouvelles de l'archéologie. Le XIXe siècle représente donc le moment d'une véritable conversion symbolique : on passe d'une représentation filtrée par la lecture à une reconstitution dans laquelle le vestige est lu autant comme signe que comme preuve. L'archéologie vient ainsi concurrencer l'histoire d'où les débats qui agitent la fin du XIXe et du début du XXe siècle : histoire et archéologie, histoire ou archéologie, histoire contre archéologie. La science nouvelle suscite de nouveaux imaginaires qui lui sont propres.

Dictionnaire universel des contemporains Louis-Gustave Vapereau, 1892

European Archaeology Abroad S.J. van der Linde, 2013-10-01. What are European archaeologists doing abroad? What have they been doing there for the past three to four centuries? Are they doing things differently nowadays? To address these questions, this book explores the scope, impact and ethics of European archaeological policies and practices in the Mediterranean area, the Near East, sub-Saharan Africa, Asia and Latin America. Acknowledging that international and transcultural projects have a range of different stakeholders, the first part of this book aims to identify some of the values and motivations behind different European archaeologies abroad. This is done by providing thorough historical overviews on a range of European countries including France, Spain, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Poland. But how are these values translated through socio-political, theoretical and administrative frameworks into local circumstances in host countries? And how are these archaeological activities received locally? The second part of this book attempts to answer these questions through a range of historical and contemporary case studies in

Africa in Asia in South America in the Near East and in Europe The third part of the book offers several critical reflections on European values motivations and collaboration projects as perceived by archaeological heritage professionals based in and or working in Senegal Sudan Somaliland Colombia and the Near East This collection of historical overviews contemporary case studies and critical reflections focuses on the challenging relationships between archaeological practices and policies including the requirements and wishes of archaeologists of local communities and of other stakeholders in Europe and in the host countries In addition to researchers and students this book should be of interest to practicing archaeologists heritage professionals and policy makers the world over as they seek to reach better informed decisions regarding archaeological projects and international collaboration This publication was produced in the framework of the ACE project Archaeology in Contemporary Europe Professional Practices and Public Outreach with the support of the Culture 2007 2013 programme of the European Commission
