Research in Basic Writing Martin Jacobi, Michael G. Moran, 1990-02-15

This reference handbook surveys research on the central issue associated with the teaching of unprepared writers. Though basic writing has only been recognized as a distinct area of teaching and research since 1975, the existing bibliographic texts already seem limited due to their age or lack of annotation. This volume provides current and extensive bibliographic essays and will help to define this new field of study for teachers and researchers. Following an introduction that summarizes the origins and significant texts in basic writing, the book is divided into three sections: Social Science Perspectives, Linguistic Perspectives, and Pedagogical Perspectives. The first section, which contains three essays, views the field through the lens of social, psychological, and political issues. The second section, also containing three essays, examines contributions made from studies of grammar, dialects, and second language acquisition. The third section, in its four essays, focuses on the design, development, administration, and evaluation of basic writing courses; the use of computers in basic writing classrooms; the role of the writing lab; and the preparation of basic writing teachers. An appendix that reviews current textbooks for basic writing courses is also included, as well as an index. This book will be a valuable resource for teachers of basic writing in education courses and workshops that train teachers and tutors and in fields such as linguistics, technical writing, and Teaching English as a Second Language. It will also be an important addition to public and university libraries and many education programs.

Foundations of Braille Literacy Evelyn J. Rex, 1994. This ground-breaking text addresses the teaching of braille reading and writing in the context of general literacy. Employing theoretical frameworks and approaches to teaching print reading and writing and practical applications for instruction in braille literacy, this innovative book can be used both in university training programs and by practicing educators working with braille learners. Foundations of Braille Literacy also includes perspectives on literacy, the history of literacy for people who are blind, the learning processes of people who are blind, and assessment of braille literacy.

The Cornerstones to Early Literacy Katherine

Luongo-Orlando, 2010. How can we build a strong literacy foundation for children? This book appreciates that learning and language development start with the play episodes, oral language practices, wordplay activities, print encounters, reading events, and writing experiences that children engage in during the early years of life. Filled with rich language activities, The Cornerstones to Early Literacy shows teachers how to create active learning experiences that are essential to building early literacy. This comprehensive handbook is organized around the following topics: Play Experiences; Understanding the early stages of learning and all aspects of the play-literacy connection; Oral Language: Supporting opportunities for child talk with suggested conversation starters and events that involve personal timelines and storytelling; Language Awareness and Word Play: Creating a balanced approach to language learning using games and activities that involve literature, music, choral speaking, sound games, and more; Print Encounters: Discovering, reproducing, and creating all forms of environmental print.
