The Archive of the Wullu Family Katarzyna Grosz, 1988 Archive of the Wullu Family Women in the Ancient Near East Marten Stol, 2016-08-08 Women in the Ancient Near East offers a lucid account of the daily life of women in Mesopotamia from the third millennium BCE until the beginning of the Hellenistic period. The book systematically presents the lives of women emerging from the available cuneiform material and discusses modern scholarly opinion. Stol's book is the first full scale treatment of the history of women in the Ancient Near East. Tradition and Innovation in the Ancient Near East Alfonso Archi, 2015-01-23 In July 2011 the International Association for Assyriology met in Rome Italy for 5 days to deliver and listen to papers on the theme Tradition and Innovation in the Ancient Near East. This volume the proceedings of the conference contains more than 40 of the papers read at the 57th annual Rencontre including 3 plenary lectures, papers many papers directly connected with the theme as well as a workshop on parents and children. The papers covered every period of Mesopotamian history from the third millennium through the end of the first millennium B C E. The attendees were warmly hosted by faculty and students from the Universit di Roma La Sapienza. Bronze Age Bureaucracy Nicholas Postgate, 2014-01-13 This book describes ten different government archives of cuneiform tablets from Assyria using them to analyze the social and economic character of the Middle Assyrian state as well as the roles and practices of writing. The tablets many of which have not been edited or translated were excavated at the capital Assur and in the provinces and they give vivid details to illuminate issues such as offerings to the national shrine, the economy and political role of elite households, palace etiquette and state run agriculture. This book concentrates particularly on how the Assyrian use of written documentation affected the nature and ethos of government and compares this to contemporary practices in other palatial administrations at Nuzi, Alalah, Ugarit and in Greece. Orientalia, 1998 Studies in Zoroastrian Family Law Bodil Hjerrild, 2003 The source material of the book is translated from the only existent Sasanian law text and two Rivyats from the first half of the ninth and the first half of the tenth century at which time the Zoroastrians survived only in minority communities. The original text is presented in photocopy with a transcription. The analysis is concerned with four institutions in the sphere of family law: Guardianship, marriage of levirate, marriage of a woman in order to provide her father or brother with an heir and marriage between close relatives. Incest taboo did not exist. The issue of the research is to show how the social conditions and internal family economy with its power balance is reflected in the rules of the Sasanian law and that the differences apparent in the later texts are not accidental but form a pattern caused by the changing social conditions and that the law was changed in order to help preserve the Zoroastrian minority in adversity under Arab rule. Family Religion in Babylonia, Ugarit and Israel K. Van Der Toorn, 1996 This study of family religion in the Babylonian, Ugaritic and Israelite civilizations opens up a little studied province of ancient Near Eastern religion. By focusing on the interaction between family religion and state religion, the author offers fascinating insights into the development of the religion of Israel.
