7 Up In South Africa:

The Devil You Dance With Audrey McCluskey, 2010-10-01 South African film culture like so much of its public life has undergone a tremendous transformation during its first decade of democracy Filmmakers once in exile banned or severely restricted have returned home subjects once outlawed by the apparatchiks of apartheid are now fair game and a new crop of insurgent filmmakers are coming to the fore This extraordinary volume presents twenty five in depth interviews with established and emerging South African filmmakers collected and edited by Audrey Thomas McCluskey The interviews capture the filmmakers spirit energy and ambition as they attempt to give birth to a film culture that reflects the heart and aspirations of their diverse and emergent nation The collection includes a biographical profile of each filmmaker as well an introductory essay by McCluskey pointing to the themes as well as creative differences and similarities among the filmmakers

Confrontation And Liberation In Southern Africa Ibrahim S. R. Msabaha, 2019-03-13 The 1984 Nkomati Accord a bilateral security agreement between South Africa and Mozambique to eliminate guerrilla threats on both sides of a common border was a milestone in regional confrontation and cooperation Yet the real challenge to the white South African regime is not external it is internal opposition to apartheid This volume written by leading African scholars begins by exploring the origins of racism and nationalism in Southern Africa The contributors discuss the spread of nationalist movements throughout the region arguing that South Africa has attempted to resist divert or undermine the domino effect by capitalizing on the Nkomati Accord The authors focus on the legal aspects of the Accord its impact on the foreign and defense policies of the Front Line States prospects for regional development and economic integration and potential outcomes of the national liberation struggles in Southern Africa

Utilisation of South African Research on Higher Education Jan Botha ,Gabriele Vilyte, 2021-10-26 The relationship between research on the one hand and policy practice on the other hand is complicated and collaboration between scholars in research on higher education RHE and institutional research IR practitioners is often lacking This book marks a collaborative effort of a diverse range of South African RHE and IR scholars and asks the overarching questions What do we know about the utilisation of South African research on higher education SARHE and its subset of research known as Institutional Research How and by whom is this research used The book begins by looking at the historical underpinnings of SARHE and delineating the shape and size of this body of research This is followed by a series of case studies on South African Higher Education institutions and governmental bodies investigating how when and by whom are research on higher education and institutional research used in the decision making of these organisations This book is the first of its kind in South Africa and sets out to lay the groundwork for further research into the use uptake and utilisation of RHE and IR in this country
