Rights of the Child, Mothers and Sentencing Alice Macharia, 2021-02-22 This book draws international attention to the autonomy of the child accompanying incarcerated mothers and those they leave behind in the community despite being dependent on the convicted caregiver Adopting a child rights perspective the study explores how courts could go about sentencing mothers of young children for the commission of criminal offences whilst protecting the rights of the child as envisaged under the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child UNCRC Drawing on the author's experience as a sentencer in the Kenyan court and with reference to domestic regional and international law the book argues that children's rights are presently left in abeyance when their mothers are sentenced to imprisonment and that greater efforts should be made to recognize and give effect to the child's existence as an autonomous equal holder of human rights despite being dependent on the convicted caregiver It explores the application of precedence as well as the court's discretion in view of the dependent child and concludes that policy reform in this respect calls for change in attitude and approach on women and children's issues Observing that internationally most women imprisoned with their children fall beneath the custodial threshold set by law the research examines how current sentencing practices could be reformed and suggests harnessing the Power of Mercy Committee the Sentencing Guidelines and progressive practices from developed countries in protecting the child's rights by imposing non custodial sentences for the offending mothers It is concluded that in all jurisdictions strict accountability for the dependent child should be situated with the judiciary and that the same should be pronounced as a mandatory legal requirement The book will be a valuable resource for academic researchers and policy makers working in the area of international children's rights law and criminal law The Green Bag Horace Williams Fuller, Sydney Russell Wrightington, Arthur Weightman Spencer, Thomas Tileston Baldwin, 1913 Includes index 1 v consciousness around alternatives to formal legality and asks how situated assumptions about law and fairness guide people's understandings of the informal justice system Creutzfeldt shows that the everyday relationship that people have with the informal justice system is shaped by their experiences and expectations of the formal legal system and its agents This book is an innovative theoretical and empirical statement about the future prospects for informal justice in Europe Monthly Bulletin St. Louis Public Library,1925 Teachers bulletin vol 4 issued as part of v 23 no 9 Crime Waves and Criminals St. Louis Public Library,1925 The Administration of Justice in the Courts ,1976 This bibliography on judicial administration assembles major writings dealing with the federal state and local court systems Administrative Justice in Context Michael Adler,2010-04-30 This book comprises a definitive collection of papers on administrative justice written by a set of very distinguished contributors It is divided into five parts each of which contains articles on a particular aspect of administrative justice The first part deals with the impact of contextual changes on administrative justice and considers the implications of changes in governance and public administration management and service delivery information technology audit and accounting and human rights for administrative justice The second part deals with conceptual issues and describes a number of competing approaches to the administrative justice The third part deals with the application of administrative justice principles to private law disputes while the fourth part deals with the distinctive characteristics of administrative justice in three other jurisdictions The final part deals with current developments in administrative justice and the book concludes with a discussion of legislative and policy developments in the UK The general approach of the book is socio legal and interdisciplinary The chapters adopt a variety of disciplinary perspectives including those derived from political science public policy social policy accounting and information technology as well as from law Although most of the contributors are academics some are practitioners For these reasons the book should be of interest to lawyers particularly those with interests in administrative law and to social scientists particularly those with interests in public administration public policy and public management Choosing for Juries Nazim Ziyadov,2013 Why do governments try to limit the application of jury trials both in countries where jury trials are native and in countries that have more recently instituted them This is a critical question today as government authorities are trying to limit the role of juries especially when it comes to complex fraud cases national security terrorism cases and cases where juries seem to have a propensity for high acquittal rates Therefore understanding how governments are promoting and constraining jury trials is important This book analyzes the reasons that motivate governments to introduce jury trial practices and the factors that condition the role these types of trials play in the administration of criminal justice systems as a whole The book's research derives its finding from the comparative analysis of criminal justice systems of the United Kingdom the Russian Federation and the Republic of Azerbaijan It also assesses prospects of the application of jury trials in the Republic of Azerbaijan based on analysis of the criminal justice systems of countries where these practices already exist
