Adolescent Delinquency The Collective Management Of Reputation:

Adolescence and Delinquency Nicholas Emler, Stephen Reicher, 1995 A study of juvenile delinquency in Great Britain theorizes that misbehavior is motivated by the desire for a bad reputation

Understanding Adolescents' Political Agency Håkan Stattin, 2024-06-07 This ground breaking volume shows that young people largely shape their own political development and that to understand young people's political development we must consider their political agency Håkan Stattin explores the findings of an extensive longitudinal study of the political socialization of young people in Sweden from the ages of 13 to 28 which shows that contrary to popular belief it is not parents peers teachers or other key adults who are the primary agents in shaping young people's political development it is their own self directed political interest Given that political interest is both an input and an output the book examines how political interest affects young people's political interactions with their parents and why young people and their parents perceive these interactions differently It covers key issues such as the impact of political interest triggering events and civil unrest the role of school and peers parental involvement and the path from political interest to future political and civic engagement Launching a new field of research internationally this volume is essential reading for researchers students educators and policy developers interested in young people's political and civic attitudes engagement communication core values and the emergence of intrinsic political sophistication

Social Psychology of Inclusion and Exclusion

Dominic Abrams, Michael A. Hogg, José M. Marques, 2004-06-02 This book is about the social psychological dynamics and phenomenology of social inclusion and exclusion The editors take as their starting point the assumption that social life is conducted in a framework of relationships in which individuals seek inclusion and belongingness Relationships necessarily include others but equally they have boundaries that exclude Frequently these boundaries are challenged or crossed The book will draw together research on individual motivation small group processes stigmatization and intergroup relations to provide a comprehensive social psychological account of social inclusion and exclusion

Social Psychology Stainton Rogers, Wendy, 2011-06-01 This is an introductory social psychology textbook that acknowledges two very different approaches being taken to social psychology experimental and critical These conflicting approaches are brought together in a single coherent text Framing Crime Keith Hayward, the late Mike Presdee, 2010-07-02 In a world in which media images of crime and deviance proliferate where every facet of offending is reflected in a vast hall of mirrors Framing Crime Cultural Criminology and the Image makes sense of the increasingly blurred line between the real and the virtual Images of crime and crime control have become almost as real as crime and criminal justice itself The meaning of both crime and crime control now resides not solely in the essential and essentially false factuality of crime rates or arrest records but also in the contested processes of symbolic display cultural interpretation and representational negotiation It is essential then that criminologists are closely attuned to the various ways in which crime is imagined constructed and framed within modern society Framing Crime responds to this demand with a collection of papers aimed at helping the reader to understand the ways in which the contemporary story of crime is constructed and promulgated through the image It also provides the relevant analytical and research tools to unearth the hidden social and ideological concerns that frequently underpin images of crime violence and transgression Framing Crime will be of interest to students and academics in the fields of criminology crime and the media and sociology Restoring Safe School Communities Brenda Morrison, 2007 Restoring Safe School Communities a whole school response to bullying violence and alienation introduces a whole school approach to addressing the problems of bullying and violence in schools Author Brenda Morrison proposes a continuum of responsive and restorative practices for building safe school communities The first most proactive level of practices aims to develop all students social and emotional competencies to enable students to resolve their differences in caring and respectful ways The second level of practices widens the circle of care around the participants Typically this level of response occurs when the problem has become more protracted or has involved and affected a larger number of people and involves other members of the school community stepping in to assist in the resolution of the conflict or concern The third and final level of practices involves the participation of an even wider cross section of the school community including parents guardians social workers and others who have been affected This tertiary level of intervention is normally only used for serious incidents within the school Morrison explains the thinking behind the suggested responses and shows how they can be implemented by practices such as a responsible citizen program and restorative justice circles and conferences The Other Half of Gender Ian Bannon, Maria Correia, 2006-01-01 This book is an attempt to bring the gender and development debate full circle from a much needed focus on empowering women to a more comprehensive gender framework that considers gender as a system that affects both women and men The chapters in this book explore definitions of masculinity and male identities in a variety of social contexts drawing from experiences in Latin America the Caribbean and sub Saharan Africa It draws on a slowly emerging realization that attaining the vision of gender equality will be difficult if not impossible without changing the ways in which masculinities are defined and acted upon Although changing male gender norms will be a difficult and slow process we must begin by understanding how versions of masculinities are defined and acted upon Sacred Matters Wesley R. Burr, Loren D.

Marks, Randal D. Day, 2012-04-27 Sacred Matters explores the multi disciplinary literature about the role of religion in family life and provides new research and a new theory about ways various aspects of the sacred are helpful and harmful. The authors hope that their new conceptual framework will stimulate new research and encourage the creation of new intervention programs designed to help families. Sacred Matters features a new conceptual framework and theory about how when and why sacred matters influence family processes and outcomes, new qualitative and quantitative research collected in a variety of ways from people with different religious perspectives in different geographical areas, an expansion in theory and research about the role of forgiveness, sacrifice, prayer, and sanctification in family life, the integration of studies and issues from psychology, sociology, family studies, anthropology, and religion. This book raises the bar in creating new theories about family processes and in the integration of theory, research, and application. It begins with a review of the previous literature and then expands the research about sanctification to create a new general theory or model about ways sacred processes help and hinder families. Next, the authors expand the theory and research about the role of forgiveness, sacrifice, and prayer in families. New theory and research are then added about loving, coping with conflict, dealing with undesirable behavior, generational relationships, morality, and the psychosocial aspects of religion. The authors then describe ways sacred theory can be integrated with other theories and ways it provides new explanations about broader social problems. The book concludes with new quantitative research and suggestions for future research. Researchers, practitioners, and advanced students in several disciplines will find this volume valuable. It will expand and enrich the reading in graduate and advanced undergraduate courses in areas such as family studies, human development, marriage and family therapy, the psychology of the family, and the psychology of religion, the sociology of the family, and the sociology of religion, pastoral counseling, anthropology, and social work.
