Are Women Human:

Are Women Human? Catharine A. MacKinnon, 2006-04-21 More than half a century after the Universal Declaration of Human Rights defined what a human being is and is entitled to Catharine MacKinnon asks Are women human yet If women were regarded as human would they be sold into sexual slavery worldwide veiled silenced and imprisoned in homes bred and worked as menials for little or no pay stoned for sex outside marriage or burned within it mutilated genitally impoverished economically and mired in illiteracy all as a matter of course and without effective recourse The cutting edge is where law and culture hurts which is where MacKinnon operates in these essays on the transnational status and treatment of women Taking her gendered critique of the state to the international plane ranging widely intellectually and concretely she exposes the consequences and significance of the systematic maltreatment of women and its systemic condonation And she points toward fresh ways social legal and political of targeting its toxic orthodoxies MacKinnon takes us inside the workings of nation states where the oppression of women defines community life and distributes power in society and government She takes us to Bosnia Herzegovina for a harrowing look at how the wholesale rape and murder of women and girls there was an act of genocide not a side effect of war She takes us into the heart of the international law of conflict to ask and reveal why the international community can rally against terrorists violence but not against violence against women A critique of the transnational status quo that also envisions the transforming possibilities of human rights this bracing book makes us look as never before at an ongoing war too long undeclared

Are Women Human? Dorothy Leigh Sayers, 1971 Are Women Human?, 1981 The Concept of Woman, v3 Allen, 1997 The culmination of a lifetime's scholarly work this pioneering study by Sister Prudence Allen traces the concept of woman in relation to man in Western thought from ancient times to the present Volume I uncovers four general categories of questions asked by philosophers for two thousand years These are the categories of opposites of generation of wisdom and of virtue Sister Prudence Allen traces several recurring strands of sexual and gender identity within this period Ultimately she shows the paradoxical influence of Aristotle on the question of woman and on a philosophical understanding of sexual complementarity Supplemented throughout with helpful charts diagrams and illustrations this volume will be an important resource for scholars and students in the fields of women's studies philosophy history theology literary studies and political science In Volume 2 Sister Prudence Allen explores claims about sex and gender identity in the works of over fifty philosophers both men and women in the late medieval and early Renaissance periods Touching on the thought of every philosopher who considered sex or gender identity between A D 1250 and 1500 The Concept of Woman provides the analytical categories necessary for situating contemporary discussion of women in relation to men Adding to the accessibility of this fine discussion are informative illustrations helpful summary charts and extracts of original source material some not previously available in English In her third and final volume Allen covers the years 1500 2015 continuing her chronological approach to individual authors and also offering systematic arguments to defend certain philosophical positions over against others Are Women Human? Dorothy L. Sayers, 2005-08-06 Introduction by Mary McDermott Shideler One of the first women to graduate from Oxford University Dorothy Sayers pursued her goals whether or not what she wanted to do was ordinarily understood to be feminine Sayers did not devote a great deal of time to talking or writing about feminism but she did explicitly address the issue of women's role in society in the two classic essays collected here Central to Sayers's reflections is the conviction that both men and women are first of all human beings and must be regarded as essentially much more alike than different We are to be true not so much to our sex as to our humanity The proper role of both men and women in her view is to find the work for which they are suited and to do it Though written several decades ago these essays still offer in Sayers's piquant style a sensible and conciliatory approach to ongoing gender issues The Concept of Woman, Volume 3 Prudence Allen, 2017-01-05 The culmination of a lifetime's scholarly work this pioneering study by Sister Prudence Allen traces the concept of woman in relation to man in Western thought from ancient times to the present In her third and final volume Allen covers the years 1500-2015 continuing her chronological approach to individual authors and also offering systematic arguments to defend certain philosophical positions over against others Building on her work from Volumes I and II Allen draws on four communities of discourse Academic Humanist Religious and Satirical as she traces several recurring strands of sex and gender identity from the Renaissance to the present Now complete Allen's magisterial study is a valuable resource for scholars and students in the fields of women's studies philosophy history theology literary studies and political science Being Humans Neil Roughley, 2013-02-06 No detailed description available for Being Humans Human Rights are Women's Right Amnesty International, 1995 At risk in law

A Critical Analysis of the Efficacy of Law as a Tool to Achieve Gender Equality Natalie Persadie, 2012-07-26 Law is often perceived as an instrument that can effect social change While this might be so it must be complemented by the necessary financial and human resources to make the law effective Natalie Persadie explains that among developing countries such as Trinidad and Tobago the achievement of legal advances for women at either the international or national levels is particularly difficult where practical measures are not subsequently implemented This is perhaps attributable to a lack of political will Important issues such as gender equality and domestic violence are not given priority and laws aimed at protecting women and promoting women's rights are ineffective scant or unenforced Gender justice can only be realized through a multilevel approach from above and more importantly from below as women have the potential to effect real national and international legal and institutional change to ensure gender equality at both levels Encyclopedia of Business and Professional Ethics Deborah C Poff, Alex C. Michalos, 2023-05-24 This encyclopedia edited by the past editors and founder of the Journal of Business Ethics is the only reference work dedicated entirely to business and professional ethics Containing over 2000 entries this multi-volume major research reference work provides a broad-based disciplinary and interdisciplinary approach to all of the key topics in the field The encyclopedia draws on three interdisciplinary and over lapping fields business ethics professional ethics and applied ethics although the main focus is on business ethics The breadth of scope of this work draws upon the expertise of human and social scientists as well as that of professionals and scientists in varying fields This work has come to fruition by making use of the expert academic input from the extraordinarily rich population of current and past editorial board members and section editors of and contributors to the Journal of Business Ethics

Women, Violence and Nonviolent Change Aruna Gnanadason, Musimbi R. A. Kanyoro, Lucia Ann McSpadden, 2009-08-01 Amidst conflict situations all around our increasingly violent world ranging from wars between nations to abuse of women and children within the home women are making effective courageous and often creative nonviolent responses Yet little attention has been given to the specific contributions of women to conflict resolution This book helps to fill that gap After three analytical essays women from thirteen countries around the world present case studies of how women's groups are confronting violence in their contexts What they have in common is that all grow out of an awareness of the interlinkages of various forms of violence an emphasis on practical action and an insistence on nonviolence as the only appropriate and workable means of responding to violence At the time of the first printing of the book the three editors were staff members of the three organizations responsible for the study on women and nonviolence from which this book emerged namely Aruna Gnanadason World Council of Churches Musimbi Kanyoro Lutheran World Federation and Lucia Ann McSpadden Life Peace Institute The focal goal of the study was to stimulate networking between scholars and women practitioners and to enhance the efficiency of a nonviolent struggle for human rights

Rights and Reality Marjolein Benschop, 2002

The Work of Rape Rana M. Jaleel, 2021-08-09 In The Work of Rape Rana M Jaleel argues that the redefinition of sexual violence within international law as a war crime crime against humanity and genocide owes a disturbing and unacknowledged debt to power and knowledge achieved from racial imperial and settler colonial domination Prioritizing critiques of racial capitalism from women of color Indigenous queer trans and Global South perspectives Jaleel reorients how violence is socially defined and distributed through legal definitions of rape From Cold War conflicts in Latin America the 1990s ethnic wars in Rwanda and Yugoslavia and the War on Terror to ongoing debates about sexual assault on college campuses Jaleel considers how legal and social iterations of rape and the terms that define it consent force coercion are unstable indexes and abstractions of social difference that mediate racial and colonial positionalities Jaleel traces how post Cold War orders of global security and governance simultaneously transform the meaning of sexualized violence extend US empire and disavow legacies of enslavement Indigenous dispossession and racialized violence within the United States Duke University Press Scholars of Color First Book Award recipient

Global Ethics Heather Widdows,2014-12-05 Global ethics addresses some of the most pressing ethical concerns today including rogue states torture scarce resources poverty migration consumption global trade medical tourism and humanitarian intervention It is both topical and important How we resolve or fail to resolve the dilemmas of global ethics shapes how we understand ourselves our relationships with each other and the social and political frameworks of governance now and into the future This is seen most clearly in the case of climate change where our actions now determine the environment our grandchildren will inherit but it is also the case in other areas as our decisions about what it is permissible for humans beings to do to each other determines the type of beings we are This book suitable for course use introduces students to the theory and practice of global ethics ranging over issues in global governance and citizenship poverty and development war and terrorism bioethics environmental and climate ethics and gender justice

Feminism Sally J. Scholz,2012-12-01 Feminism is arguably the most significant social movement of the last century and it is far from over But what appears as a single unified movement on behalf of women s liberation is really a fascinating coalition of social and political causes goals and ideals By highlighting the themes that form the enduring nexuses between the three waves taking powerful examples from feminist campaigns and tackling timely issues such as genocide and war rape Scholz invites us to join in with the lively debates and always germane challenges of feminism

Feminist Perspectives on Public Law Susan Millns,Noel Whitty,2013-03-04 Feminist scholarship can provide public lawyers with the critical tools and insights to respond to these new challenges This collection begins a dialogue between public law and feminism by offering a range of perspectives on contemporary public law themes and topics

No Turning Back Estelle Freedman, 2003-01-01 On the situations of women around the world today this one book provides more illumination and insight than a dozen others combined Freedman's survey is a triumph of global scope and informed precision NANCY F COTT Professor of History Harvard University Repeatedly declared dead by the media the women's movement has never been as vibrant as it is today Indeed as Stanford professor and award winning author Estelle B Freedman argues in her compelling book feminism has reached a critical momentum from which there is no turning back Freedman examines the historical forces that have fueled the feminist movement over the past two hundred years and explores how women today are looking to feminism for new approaches to issues of work family sexuality and creativity Drawing examples from a variety of countries and cultures from the past and the present this inspiring narrative will be required reading for anyone who wishes to understand the role women play in the world Searching in its analysis and global in its perspective No Turning Back will stand as a defining text in one of the most important social movements of all time

The War against Animals Dinesh Wadiwel, 2015-06-24 Are non human animals our friends or enemies In this provocative book Dinesh Wadiwel argues that our mainstay relationships with billions of animals are essentially hostile The War against Animals asks us to interrogate this sustained violence across its intersubjective institutional and epistemic dimensions Drawing from Foucault Spivak and Derrida The War against Animals argues that our sovereign claim of superiority over other animals is founded on nothing else but violence Through innovative readings of Locke and Marx Dinesh Wadiwel argues that property in animals represents a bio political conquest that aims to secure animals as the spoils of war The goal for pro animal advocacy must be to challenge this violent sovereignty and recognize animal resistance through forms of counter conduct and truce
