Sherman,2004 No News is Bad News Michael Bromley,2014-09-11 This volume of collected essays provides a wide ranging survey of the state of radio and television especially the idea of public service broadcasting and of news current affairs and documentary programming in America Australia the UK and the rest of western Europe Among the key issues it addresses are the dumbing down of TV news the infotainment factor in current affairs shows and the disappearance of the documentary Using contemporary cases and examples from the row over the scheduling of News at Ten in the UK to the creation of ABC News Online in Australia the essays link the performance of radio and television at the turn of the millennium with the processes of deregulation liberalisation and digitalisation which have been evident since the 1980s Working from a much needed and original comparative approach which encompasses complex and well established public broadcasting in the USA as well as emerging and vulnerable participatory radio stations in El Salvador the book sets a variety of experiences of factual radio and television programming within wider political and cultural contexts It offers analyses of not only the problems associated with news current affairs and documentary broadcasting in an era of a declining public service ethos and the apparent triumph of the market however The essays also explore the potential of alternative radio and television new forms of communication such as the internet and changing practices among journalists and programme makers as well as the resilience of public broadcasting and the powers of the public to ensure that the media remain relevant and accountable A companion text to the bestselling Sex Lies and Democracy The Press and the Public this volume presents a multi faceted approach to the tumultuous present and the uncertain future of news current affairs and documentary in radio and television

Hollywood and Broadcasting Michele Hilmes,2023-02-03 Michele Hilmes has produced an excellent introduction to a most important subject This is an invaluable work for both scholars and students that places film radio and television within the context of the national culture experience American Historical Review Hilmes is one of the few historians of broadcasting to move beyond a political economy of the media Her work should serve as a model for future histories of broadcasting Journal of Communication All media historians will find this work a critical addition to their bookshelves American Journalism A major addition to media history literature Journalism History Broadcasting Pluralism and Diversity Lesley Hitchens,2006-10-31 Broadcasting Pluralism and Diversity is a study of the policy and regulatory measures relating to the promotion of media diversity in three jurisdictions the United Kingdom the United States and Australia A central focus of the book is regulation of media ownership and control and taking an historical approach the book argues that early policy and regulatory decisions continue to have a significant influence on current reforms Whilst policy and reform debates focus on ownership and control measures the book also argues that such measures can not be considered in isolation from other regulatory instruments and that a holistic regulatory approach is required As such content regulation and competition regulation are also considered Underlying the study is the contention that much of the policy informing pluralism and diversity regulation although making reference to the importance of the media's role in the democratic process has also been skewed by a futile focus on the different regulatory treatment of the press and broadcasting which is adversely influencing current policy debates. The book argues that a different approach using the public sphere concept needs to be adopted and used as a measure against which regulatory reform in the changing media environment can be assessed.

Power Without Responsibility James Curran, Jean Seaton, 2010. Power Without Responsibility is a classic introduction to the history, sociology, theory and politics of the media in Britain. Hailed by the Times Higher as the seminal media text and translated into Arabic, Chinese and other foreign languages, it is an essential guide for media students and critical media consumers alike. The new edition has been substantially revised to bring it right up to date with developments in the media industry, new media technologies and changes in the political and academic debates surrounding the media. In this new edition, the authors consider the impact of the internet, the failure of interactive TV, media and Britishness, new media and global understanding, journalism in crisis, BBC and broadcasting at the beginning of the twenty-first century. Assessing the media at a time of profound change, the authors set out the democratic choices for media reform.

Digital Technology and the Future of Broadcasting John V. Pavlik, 2019-12-10. This volume presents timely discussions on how digital technology is reshaping broadcasting and the media in the United States and around the world. It features contributions from distinguished scholars and young researchers representing work that spans domestic and international issues of technological change and the implications for broadcasting and related media in a global context. Among the many issues covered are: The impact of digital technology on the structure of broadcasting organizations and regulation; The nature of broadcast content or media programming and how it is delivered at home and abroad; Engagement and interaction of the public with broadcasting and social and mobile media; and The reshaping of revenue models for broadcasters and media organizations globally. The first two parts of the volume addressing research challenges, issues and advances in global broadcasting are competitively reviewed research papers which were presented at the BEA2014 Research Symposium. The third part focuses on international perspectives with chapters from broadcasting scholars and paper discussants at the Research Symposium. This section provides reflection on the problems and prospects for research, education and public policy that arise in this era of rapid and continuing change. As a benchmark of the remarkable changes taking place in today's media environment, the volume sets an agenda for future research on the implications of digital technology for broadcasting and broadcasting education.
