Bronzization: Essays in Bronze Age Archaeology Heide W. Nørgaard, Samantha S. Reiter, 2025-02-20 A collection of state of the art articles which integrate new insights from the many advances in research on the subject into a new and up to date vision of the Bronze Age as a Europeanised or even globalised period Papers revise current understanding of bronzization and bronzification in line with a holistic view of recent scientific advances

The Bronze Age Metalwork of South Western Britain Susan M. Pearce, 1983 European Societies in the Bronze Age A. F. Harding, 2000-05-18 The Bronze Age roughly 2500 to 750 BC was the last fully prehistoric period in Europe and a crucial element in the formation of the Europe that emerged into history in the later first millennium BC This book focuses on the material culture remains of the period and through them provides an interpretation of the main trends in human development that occurred during this timespan It pays particular attention to the discoveries and theoretical advances of the last twenty years that have necessitated a major revision of received opinions about many aspects of the Bronze Age Arranged thematically it reviews the evidence for a range of topics in cross cultural fashion defining which major characteristics of the period were universal and which culture and area specific The result is a comprehensive study that will be of value to specialists and students while remaining accessible to the non specialist

The Socketed Bronze Axes in Ireland George Eogan, 2000 Socketed axes were widespread in the Irish Bronze Age associated with a range of industrial domestic and ritual activities reflected in the enormous variety of axe sizes something that is immediately evident from

Eogan s typology and illustrated catalogue 50 Bronze Age Finds Dot Boughton,2021-11-15 A fascinating selection of Bronze Age finds from across the country from the Portable Antiquities Scheme The South West to 1000 AD Malcolm Todd,2014-06-23 A unique and detailed history of the south west of England written in a clear and accessible style A wonderful resource for any local historian Local Societies in Bronze Age Northern Europe Nils Anfinset,Melanie Wrigglesworth,2014-10-14 This book aims to understand the process of the Bronze Age societies of Northern Europe which are often regarded as the periphery and a bleak contrast to the Central European Bronze Age The Bronze Age is the first globalised period with new types of societies and new modes of exchange and trade In this context there is considerable local variation and diversity within the Bronze Age societies of Northern Europe which is poorly understood although there have been advances and changes in this research Therefore this book challenges some of the mainstream opinions on the Bronze Age of Northern Europe and focus on local and regional aspects This is done by a series of articles from significant contributors that deal with these issues on theoretical and empirical levels with regards to differences cultural dualism boundaries regions and regionality in a period of increased globalisation The result is a movement away from local and regional aspects toward communications travels and contacts between northern Europe and the greater world not only towards Central Europe and the Near East but also towards the east Northern Arctic Europe is often left out in these discussions and this book will contribute to this greater picture of the Bronze Age world The Axes of Scotland and Northern England Peter Karl Schmidt,Colin Burgess,1981 Palaeohistoria 37/38 (1995/1996) University of Groningen, Netherlands The Biological-Archaeological Institute,1997-01-01 Volumes 37 and 38 of this annual published since 1951 include excavational reports and analytical studies on archaeology palaeobotany and archaeozoology Personifying Prehistory Joanna Brück,2019-01-31 The Bronze Age is frequently framed in social evolutionary terms Viewed as the period which saw the emergence of social differentiation the development of long distance trade and the intensification of agricultural production it is seen as the precursor and origin point for significant aspects of the modern world This book presents a very different image of Bronze Age Britain and Ireland Drawing on the wealth of material from recent excavations as well as a long history of research it explores the impact of the post Enlightenment othering of the non human on our understanding of Bronze Age society There is much to suggest that the conceptual boundary between the active human subject and the passive world of objects so familiar from our own cultural context was not drawn in this categorical way in the Bronze Age the self was constructed in relational rather than individualistic terms and aspects of the non human world such as pots houses and mountains were considered animate entities with their own spirit or soul In a series of thematic chapters on the human body artefacts settlements and landscapes this book considers the character of Bronze Age personhood the relationship between individual and society and ideas around agency and social power The treatment and deposition of things such as querns axes and human remains provides insights into the meanings and values ascribed to objects and places and the ways in which such items acted as social agents in the Bronze Age world Late Bronze Age Weapon Depositions of North-Western Europe Tobias Mörtz, 2024-11-20 The European Bronze Age ca 2200 to 800 BC is characterised by the deposition of metal artefacts in very different compositions and conditions They were usually deliberately abandoned in conspicuous places especially near bodies of water The purposes of these actions continue to be controversially interpreted in archaeological research with the spectrum of suggestions ranging from hidden treasures in times of crisis to concealed caches of craftsmen and traders to ritual offerings to superhuman beings Tobias Mörtz systematically presents a specific group of these so called hoards and discusses their interpretation in a wider cultural scientific context Based on his own investigations of the original artefacts traces of wear and damage are identified on spearheads and swords from Britain France and Ireland indicating their use during violent conflicts and subsequent deliberate destruction by bending breaking crushing and burning The final concealment in wetlands and rivers ruled out a potential retrieval So were they sacrifices after warlike events What role did violence play in the Late Bronze Age Were the rituals also intended to contain it Objects of the Past in the Past: Investigating the Significance of Earlier Artefacts in Later Contexts Matthew G. Knight, Dot Boughton, Rachel E. Wilkinson, 2019-07-31 How did past communities view understand and communicate their pasts And how can we as archaeologists understand this This volume brings together a range of case studies in which objects of the past were encountered and reappropriated Dress and Society T. F. Martin, R. Weech, 2017-01-31 While traditional studies of dress and jewellery have tended to focus purely on reconstruction or descriptions of style chronology and typology the social context of costume is now a major research area in archaeology This refocusing is largely a result of the close relationship between dress and three currently popular topics identity bodies and material culture Not only does dress constitute an important means by which people integrate and segregate to form group identities but interactions between objects and bodies quintessentially illustrated by dress can also form the basis of much wider symbolic systems Consequently archaeological understandings of clothing shed light on some of the fundamental aspects of society hence our intentionally unconditional title Dress and Society illustrates the range of current archaeological approaches to dress using a number of case studies drawn from prehistoric to post medieval Europe Individually each chapter makes a strong contribution in its own field whether through the discussion of new evidence or new approaches to classic material Presenting the eight papers together creates a strong argument for a theoretically informed and integrated approach to dress as a specific category of archaeological evidence emphasising that the study of dress not only draws openly on other disciplines but is also a sub discipline in its own right However rather than delimiting dress to a specialist area of research we seek to promote it as fundamental to any holistic archaeological understanding of past societies The Past in Prehistoric Societies Richard Bradley, 2014-03-18 The idea of prehistory dates from the nineteenth century but Richard Bradley contends that it is still a vital area for research He argues that it is only through a combination of oral tradition and the experience of encountering ancient material culture that people were able to formulate a sense of their own pasts without written records The Past in Prehistoric Societies presents case studies which extend from the Palaeolithic to the early Middle Ages and from the Alps to Scandinavia It examines how archaeologists might study the origin of myths and the different ways in which prehistoric people would have inherited artefacts from the past It also investigates the ways in which ancient remains might have been invested with new meanings long after their original significance had been forgotten Finally the author compares the procedures of excavation and field survey in the light of these examples The work includes a large number of detailed case studies is fully illustrated and has been written in an extremely accessible style

Trade before Civilization Johan Ling, Richard J. Chacon, Kristian Kristiansen, 2022-09-15 Trade before Civilization explores the role that long distance exchange played in the establishment and or maintenance of social complexity and its role in the transformation of societies from egalitarian to non egalitarian Bringing together research by an international and methodologically diverse team of scholars it analyses the relationship between long distance trade and the rise of inequality The volume illustrates how elites used exotic prestige goods to enhance and maintain their elevated social positions in society Global in scope it offers case studies of early societies and sites in Europe Asia Oceania North America and Mesoamerica Deploying a range of inter disciplinary and cutting edge theoretical approaches from a cross cultural framework the volume offers new insights and enhances our understanding of socio political evolution It will appeal to archaeologists cultural anthropologists conflict theorists and ethnohistorians as well as economists seeking to understand the nexus between imported luxury items and cultural evolution
