The Self as Other in Minority American Life Writing Nelly Mok, Claudine Raynaud, 2019-03-22 Hinting at Rimbaud's provocative dictum that I is an other this anthology discusses a wide ranging array of twentieth century and contemporary minority American modes of life writing prompted by the following questions Who else hides behind this I that the author narrator character contractually claims to be What generic aesthetic political and socio cultural issues are at stake in a conception of the self as other The essays analyze autobiographical works from major Native American writers John Milton Oskison and Louise Erdrich an African American music hall artist Josephine Baker and writers John Edgar Wideman and Ta Nehisi Coates Caribbean American writers Jamaica Kincaid and Edwidge Danticat and Asian American writers Ruth Ozeki Cathy Park Hong Theresa Hak Kyung Cha and Loung Ung They shed light on autobiography as a collaborative writing and reading practice rather than as a self oriented genre probing the relational dimension of life writing Building on the feminist theorization of relationality and the political and aesthetic power of relational bonds they put forward the necessarily intersubjective dynamics of minority American self conceptions which originate in the writers experiences of otherness The articles highlight that the relational ethnic self characteristically inhabits the liminal spaces where modes of life writing overlap and can thrive in dialogical intertextual readings They foreground the subversive cathartic and memorializing potential of minority American modes of other writing whose ontological dimension is manifest in the writers quest for a sense of repossession and agency beyond communal boundaries Contributing to the up to date critical discussion on relationality not as a genre but rather as a reading and a storytelling practice they examine the ways it participates in a global transcultural approach to ethno racial issues in the United States

Alton Locke, with a prefatory memoir by Thomas Hughes Charles Kingsley, 1898

Critical Essays on John Edgar Wideman Bonnie TuSmith, Keith Eldon Byerman, 2006 This volume is an indispensable study of Wideman's oeuvre covering the full range of his career by addressing the key features of his fiction and nonfiction from 1967 to the present The essays in this book reflect the most advanced thinking on Wideman's prolific extraordinary art The collection features at least one article on each major work and includes the voices of both well established and emerging scholars Though their critical perspectives are diverse the contributors place Wideman squarely at the center of contemporary African American literature as an exemplar of postmodern approaches to literary art Several position Wideman within the context of his predecessors Wright Baldwin Ellison and within a larger cultural context of music and collective history The essays examine Wideman's complex style and his blending of African and Western cosmologies and aesthetics the use of personal narrative and his imaginative revisioning of forgotten historical events These insightful analyses cover virtually every stage of Wideman's career and every genre in which he has written A detailed bibliography of Wideman's work is also included From Amazon.co.uk

Brothers George Howe Colt, 2014-05-06 Blends history and memoir in an account that in alternating chapters explores the author's quest to understand the impact of his brothers on his life and the complex relationships between iconic brothers including the Thoreaus the Van Goghs and the Marxes

Writing Blackness James W. Coleman, 2010-12-10 One of the most critically acclaimed yet least recognized contemporary writers African American author John Edgar Wideman creates work often described as difficult even unfathomable In Writing Blackness James Coleman examines Wideman's prolific body of work with the goal of making his often elusive imagery and dense style more accessible and thus broadening his readership More so than for most writers Coleman shows Wideman's life has affected his writing Born in 1941 Wideman grew up in a Pittsburgh suburb where he attended an integrated high school starred on the basketball team and was senior class president and valedictorian At the University of Pennsylvania he studied creative writing and became an all Ivy League basketball player Winning a Rhodes scholarship he studied at Oxford after which he returned to Penn and became its first black tenured professor Wideman published his first novel A Glance Away at age twenty six and by 1973 had published two more works of fiction But for all this success something began to wear on him In 1973 his grandmother died and after listening to family stories when he traveled home for the funeral Wideman began to change his world view Between 1973 and 1981 Wideman published nothing and immersed himself in African American culture reading widely and even more important moving much closer to his family Since 1981 Wideman has refocused his life and writing on blackness and published twelve experimental works all very different from his earlier books Coleman examines nearly all of Wideman's work from A Glance Away 1967 to Fanon 2008 He shows how Wideman has developed a unique style that combines elements of fiction biography memoir history legend folklore waking life and dream in innovative ways in an effort to grasp the meaning of blackness an effort that makes his writing challenging but that holds more than ample rewards for the perceptive reader In Writing Blackness Coleman demonstrates why Wideman ranks among the best of contemporary American writers

The Critical Imagination in African Literature Maik Nwosu, Obiwu, 2015-06-09 In African studies the Echeruoan ideal is understood as an intervention or intellectual engagement characterized by a broadness of vision as well as a depth of analysis The essays gathered in this volume celebrate that ideal and honor Echeruo's contribution to the African intellectual tradition Editors Nwosu and Obiwu explore the driving forces in the literature of Africa and the African diaspora Contributors examine such themes as migration and exile trauma and repression violence and rebellion and gender and human rights Showcasing a rich diversity of cultural and academic backgrounds this volume inaugurates a new paradigm for further examination of African literature as world literature and for analysis of African literature through the lens of psychoanalytic semiotics While varied in modes of inquiry the essays are unified in their ambition to explore new theoretical directions reinvigorating the conversation around how African literature is read and studied

Teaching with Tension Philathia Bolton, Cassander L. Smith, Lee Bebout, 2019-01-15 Teaching with Tension is a collection of seventeen original essays that address the extent to which attitudes about race impacted by the current political moment in the United States have produced pedagogical challenges for professors in the humanities As a flashpoint this current political moment is defined by the visibility of the country's first black president the election of his successor whose presidency has been associated with an increased visibility of the alt right and the emergence of the neoliberal university Together these social currents shape the tensions with which we teach Drawing together personal reflection pedagogical strategies and critical theory Teaching with Tension offers concrete examinations that will foster student learning The essays are organized into three thematic sections Teaching in Times and Places of Struggle examines the dynamics of teaching race during the current moment marked by neoconservative politics and twenty first century freedom struggles Teaching in the Neoliberal University focuses on how pressures and exigencies of neoliberalism such as individualism customer service models of education and online courses impact the way in which race is taught and conceptualized in college classes The final section Teaching How to Read Race and Counter Narratives homes in on direct strategies used to historicize race in classrooms comprised of millennials who grapple with race neutral ideologies Taken together these sections and their constitutive essays offer rich and fruitful insight into the complex dynamics of contemporary race and ethnic studies education
