John Flood

Buch Von Der Deutschen Poeterey 1624:

Poets Laureate in the Holy Roman Empire John Flood, 2011-09-08 Petrarch's revival of the ancient practice of laureation in 1341 led to the laurel being conferred on poets throughout Europe in the later Middle Ages and the Early Modern period. Within the Holy Roman Empire Maximilian I conferred the title of Imperial Poet Laureate especially frequently and later it was bestowed with unbridled liberality by Counts Palatine and university rectors too. This handbook identifies more than 1300 poets laureated within the Empire and adjacent territories between 1355 and 1804 giving wherever possible a sketch of their lives, a list of their published works and a note of relevant scholarly literature. The introduction and various indexes provide a detailed account of a now largely forgotten but once significant literary sociological phenomenon and illuminate literary networks in the Early Modern period. A supplementary Volume 5 of Poets Laureate in the Holy Roman Empire A Bio-bibliographical Handbook will be published in June 2019.

Classical Rhetoric and the German Poet Anna Carrdus, 2017-12-02 This study relates theory to the details of poetic practice; it presents Opitz, Burger and Aichendorff as representatives of their times and demonstrates how they adapt the classical arts to their particular talents and beliefs. All three poets are shown at work within a tradition flexible enough to persist even into the present. The author shows how the influence of rhetoric on German poetry did not vanish in the mid 18th century as is widely supposed. The first chapter briefly compares theoretical statements by Martin Opitz and the 20th century poet Peter Rühmkorf; it uses the comparison to introduce two main arguments: that classical rhetoric and poetics exert a persistent though constantly changing influence on the composition of German poetry and that the theoretical precepts and natural talent are mutually interdependent. These arguments are developed through the examination of works by three German poets taken from periods of major literary change: Opitz is representative of the Baroque, Burger of the Sturm und Drang and Aichendorff of Romanticism. Three main chapters reconstruct the working method of each poet, applying his own theory and that of near contemporaries to a detailed analysis of one or two of his poems. This procedure illustrates how each poet adapts rhetorical and poetic traditions to his own personal talent and to the literary preoccupations of his time.

The 'Bellum Grammaticale' and the Rise of European Literature Erik Butler, 2010 The now forgotten genre of the bellum grammaticale flourished in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries as a means of satirizing outmoded cultural institutions and promoting new methods of instruction. Butler examines representations of language as war in texts written in Latin, French and German; the study, by exploring the relationship between tradition and innovation, also illuminates the shift from a Latin-based understanding of learning to the acceptance of vernacular erudition and the emergence of national literatures.

Enargeia in Classical Antiquity and the Early Modern Age Heinrich F. Plett, 2012-08-14 The present study provides an extensive treatment of the topic of enargeia on the basis of the classical and humanist sources of its theoretical foundation. These serve as the basis for detailed analyses of verbal and pictorial works of the Classical Antiquity and the Early Modern Age. Their theoretical basis is the tradition of classical rhetoric with its principal representatives Aristotle Cicero Quintilian and their reception history The enargetic approach to the arts may be described as rhetoric of presence and display or aesthetics of evidence and imagination Visual imagination plays a major role in the concepts of effect in oratory poetry and drama of the Classical Antiquity and the Early Modern Age Its implementations are manifested in the Second Sophistic and in the Early Modern Age there above all in the works of William Shakespeare
