LISA FITTIPALDI

Brush With Darkness Learning To Paint After Losing My Sight

Deborah Anne Dooley

Brush With Darkness Learning To Paint After Losing My Sight:

A Brush with Darkness Lisa Fittipaldi, 2004 When Lisa Fittipaldi went blind at the age of forty seven she descended into a freefall of anger and denial that lasted for two years In this moving memoir she paints a vivid picture of the perceptual and emotional darkness that accompanied her vision loss and her arduous journey back into the sighted world through mastery of the principles of art and color The challenge of a child's watercolor set thrown down like a gauntlet by her frustrated husband opened the door to a new life I truly feel that unless blindness had toppled the carefully maintained edifice I called my life there is no way that I would be the kinder more fulfilled person I am today Lisa writes From publisher description

Going Blind Mara Faulkner, OSB, 2012-03-15 Finalist for the 2010 Minnesota Book Award presented by the Friends of the Saint Paul Public Library Mara Faulkner grew up in a family shaped by Irish ancestry a close to the bone existence in rural North Dakota and the secret of her father's blindness along with the silence and shame surrounding it Dennis Faulkner had retinitis pigmentosa a genetic disease that gradually blinded him and one that may blind many members of his family including the author Moving and insightful Going Blind explores blindness in its many permutations within the context of the author's family more broadly as a disability marked by misconceptions and as a widely used cultural metaphor Mara Faulkner delicately weaves her family's story into an analysis of the roots and ramifications of the various metaphorical meanings of blindness touching on the Catholic Church of the 1940s and 1950s Japanese internment the Germans from Russia who dominated her hometown and the experiences of Native people in North Dakota Neither sentimental nor dispassionate the author asks whether it's possible to find gifts when sight is lost Art and Disability A. Wexler, 2009-09-14 Wexler argues that the arts are most effective when they are in service of social growth critical to identity formation This book balances theory with practical knowledge and offers critical research that challenges the biases regarding the nature of art and education Toward an Aesthetics of Blindness David Feeney, 2007 Blindness has always fascinated those who can see Although modern imaginative portrayals of the sightless experience are increasingly positive the affirmative elements of these renderings are inevitably tempered and problematized by the visual predilections of the artists undertaking them This book explores a variety of the discontinuities between depictions of the sightless experience of beauty by sighted artists and the lived aesthetic experiences of blind people It does so by pressing a radical interdisciplinary reinterpretation of celebrated dramatic portrayals of blindness into service as a tool with which to probe the boundaries of the capacities of the sighted imagination while exploring the sensory detriment of our visually fixated notions of beauty Works by J M Synge W B Yeats and Brian Friel are explored as a means of crafting a workable and innovative medium of theoretical and experiential exchange between the disciplines of literature aesthetics and disability studies In addition to appraising previously unexamined aspects of the work of three of Ireland's most celebrated modern dramatists this book considers the consequences for blind people of the exclusionary and prohibitive elements of traditional aesthetic theory and art education

The insights yielded will be of value to those with an interest in modern literature differential aesthetics visual culture perception and the experience of blindness
