Thinking Utopia Jörn Rüsen, Michael Fehr, Thomas W. Rieger, 2006-12-01 After the breakdown of socialist and communist systems in the East it had become fashionable to declare the so called end of utopia end of history end of narratives The authors of this volume do not share this view but think that it is time to rehabilitate utopian thought The political concept of Utopia that has given its name to these transcendental projections onto the world has been too narrow to describe and analyze the moving forces of the mind perceiving human existence beyond reality By broadening the perspectives of utopian studies these essays enable the reader to reconstruct scholarly paradigms and strategies of utopian complex and holistic thinking in modern cosmology philosophy sociology in literary historical and political sciences and to compare traditions and ways of Western utopian thought to the practice in the East

Urban Eco-Communities in Australia Liam Cooper, Hans A. Baer, 2018-06-28 This book offers one of the first detailed anthropological studies of emergent ecotopianism in urban contexts Engaging directly with debates on urbanisation sustainability and utopia it presents two detailed ethnographic case studies of inner urban Australian eco communities in Adelaide and Melbourne These novel responses to the ecological crisis real social laboratories that attempt to manifest a vision of the eco city in microcosm offer substantial new insights into the concept and creation of sustainable urban communities their attempts to cultivate ways of living that are socially and ecologically nourishing and their often fraught relationship to the capitalist city beyond These studies also suggest the opportunities and limitations of moving beyond demonstration projects towards wider urban transformation as well as exposing the problems of accessibility and affordability that thwart further urban eco interventions and the ways that existing projects can exacerbate issues of gentrification and privilege in a socially polarised city Amidst the challenges of the capitalist city climate change and ecological crisis this book offers vital lessons on the potential of urban sustainability in future cities

Utopia Method Vision Tom Moylan, Raffaella Baccolini, 2007 This collection addresses the ways in which the contributors approach their study of the objects and practices of utopianism understood as social anticipations and visions produced through texts and social experiments and of how in turn those objects and practices have shaped their intellectual work and research perspectives

The re-emergence of co-housing in Europe Lidewij Tummers, 2017-10-02 Across Europe the number of co housing initiatives is growing and they are increasingly receiving attention from administrators and professionals who hold high expectations for urban liveability Is co housing a marginal idealist phenomenon or the urban middle class answer to the current housing crisis And has the development of theoretical insight and research kept up with the actual expansion of co housing as a practice These questions were raised during the first European conference on co housing research which took place in Tours France in March 2012 Both the conference and this book aim to move beyond case studies and to look more particularly at the implications and wider perspective of the current co housing trend Using the specific vocabulary of different disciplines and geographic regions the contributions to this book analyse the underlying thinking behind and the expectations projected on diverse models of collaborative housing The authors are aware of the qualities of contemporary co housing but they go beyond advocacy to investigate the conditions under which co housing can be successful as a strategy for housing provision can offer solutions for sustainable urban development or indeed can contribute to involuntary or intentional gentrification This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Urban Research and Practice

Gender and Utopia in the Eighteenth Century Brenda Tooley, 2016-04-15 Focusing on eighteenth century constructions of symbolic femininity and eighteenth century women's writing in relation to contemporary utopian discourse this volume adjusts our understanding of the utopia of the Enlightenment placing a unique emphasis on colonial utopias These essays reflect on issues related to specific configurations of utopias and utopianism by considering in detail English and French texts by both women Sarah Scott Sarah Fielding Isabelle de Charrière and men Paltock and Montesquieu The contributors ask the following questions In the influential discourses of eighteenth century utopian writing is there a place for woman and if so what or where is it How do women disrupt confirm or ground the utopian projects within which these constructs occur

By posing questions about the inscription of gender in the context of eighteenth century utopian writing the contributors shed new light on the eighteenth century legacies that continue to shape contemporary views of social and political progress

Sean Austin Grattan,2017-10-01 Hope Isn't Stupid is the first study to interrogate the neglected connections between affect and the practice of utopia in contemporary American literature Although these concepts are rarely theorized together it is difficult to fully articulate utopia without understanding how affects circulate within utopian texts Moving away from science fiction the genre in which utopian visions are often located author Sean Grattan resuscitates the importance of utopianism in recent American literary history Doing so enables him to assert the pivotal role contemporary American literature has to play in allowing us to envision alternatives to global neoliberal capitalism Novelists William S Burroughs Dennis Cooper John Darnielle Toni Morrison Thomas Pynchon and Colson Whitehead are deeply invested in the creation of utopian possibilities A return to reading the utopian wager in literature from the postmodern to the contemporary period reinvigorates critical forms that imagine reading as an act of communication friendship solace and succor These forms also model richer modes of belonging than the diluted and impoverished ones on display in the neoliberal present Simultaneously by linking utopian studies and affect studies Grattan's work resists the tendency for affect studies to codify around the negative instead reorienting the field around the messy rich vibrant and ambivalent affective possibilities of the world Hope Isn't Stupid insists on the centrality of utopia not only in American literature but in American life as well American Book Publishing Record ,2003
