Correctional Management David Duffee,1980 The Management of Correctional Institutions Marilyn D. McShane, Franklin P. Williams,1993 Section 1 pages 1 to 68 presents an overview of the literature on prison management and the results of a national survey of wardens which enquired into actual management styles problem solving techniques and decision making approaches The national survey aimed to determine how much the literature reflected the wardens management practices Findings showed that corrections management largely reflects the literature in that it has inconsistencies an emphasis on personnel experience and an inward focus These results were used to develop a perspective focusing on a humane and caring relationship between manager and staff Section 2 pages 72 to 301 contains abstracts of the 100 most important works both essay and research on correctional institution management The Changing Career of the Correctional Officer Don A. Josi, Dale K. McGarrell,1988-07-08 This book addresses the divergent reform agendas that have shaped American juvenile justice systems during the last two decades Testing and extending the theory of social reform developed by Ohlin et al in their study of Massachusetts juvenile justice reform McGarrell investigates the process of change in New York State s juvenile corrections system because this state was a forerunner of both liberal and conservative national reform trends He asks What juvenile justice policies have changed Who has changed them and why What has been the effect on juvenile corrections and ultimately on youth Juvenile Correctional Reform suggests that many factors as broad as cultural shifts in prevailing political ideology and as narrow as the individual initiative of an agency head have shaped policy and procedure at specific times It also provides an important case study of an organization in relation to its environment during a period of unprecedented and often contradictory demands for change in juvenile corrections Correctional Administration and Change Management Martha Henderson Hurley, Dena

Hanley,2010-06-02 Change is an inevitable part of any correctional institution as new trends and initiatives constantly bombard the system However as budgetary constraints increasingly require correctional agencies to do more with less a paradigm shift in the way they operate is imperative to ensure success Correctional Administration and Change Management exam
