Rethinking Disaster Recovery Jeannie Haubert, 2015-02-05 Rethinking Disaster Recovery focuses attention on the social inequalities that existed on the Gulf Coast before Hurricane Katrina and how they have been magnified or altered since the storm With a focus on social axes of power such as gender sexuality race and class this book tells new and personalized stories of recovery that help to deepen our understanding of the disaster Specifically the volume examines ways in which gender and sexuality issues have been largely ignored in the emerging post Katrina literature The voices of young racial and ethnic minorities growing up in post Katrina New Orleans also rise to the surface as they discuss their outlook on future employment Environmental inequities and the slow pace of recovery for many parts of the city are revealed through narrative accounts from volunteers helping to rebuild Scholars who were themselves impacted tell personal stories of trauma displacement and recovery as they connect their biographies to a larger social context These insights into the day to day lives of survivors over the past ten years help illuminate the complex disaster recovery process and provide key lessons for all too likely future disasters How do experiences of recovery vary along several axes of difference Why are some able to recover quickly while others struggle What is it like to live in a city recovering from catastrophe and what are the prospects for the future Through on the ground observation and keen sociological analysis Rethinking Disaster Recovery answers some of these questions and suggests interesting new avenues for research

Rethinking Post-Disaster Recovery Laura Centemeri, Sezin Topçu, J. Peter Burgess, 2021-11-18 This book presents an original interdisciplinary approach to the study of the so called recovery phase in disaster management centred on the notion of repairing The volume advances thinking on disaster recovery that goes beyond institutional and managerial challenges descriptions and analyses It encourages socially politically and ethically engaged questioning of what it means to recover after disaster At the centre of this analysis contributions examine the diversity of processes of repairing through which recovery can take place and the varied meanings actors attribute to repair at different times and scales of such processes It also analyses the multiple arenas juridical expert political in which actors struggle to make sense of the whatness of a disaster and the paths for recovery These struggles are interlinked with interest based and power based struggles which maintain structural inequality and exploitation existing social hierarchies and established forms of marginality The work uses case studies from all over the world cutting edge theoretical discussions and original empirical research to put critical and interpretative approaches in social sciences into dialogue opening the venue for innovative approaches in the study of environmental disasters This book will be of much interest to students of disaster management sociology anthropology law and philosophy

Restoring the Educational Dream. Rethinking Educational Transformation in Zimbabwe Shizha, Edward,2013-12-07 The role of education in human well being and social development cannot be overestimated After a number of highly commendable policies on education in the first decade of independence the education system in Zimbabwe has taken a tumble that needs both examining and rectifying This volume analyses the challenges facing the education system in Zimbabwe and explores and scrutinises theoretical and practical possibilities for restoring the educational dream that was initiated at independence in 1980 The book is targeted at academics scholars college and university students policy makers and other stakeholders and advocates a multi pronged approach that must involve all stakeholders if educational retransformation reconstruction and restoration are to be achieved The authors provide a range of recommendations for a project that would restore the educational dream in Zimbabwe Rethinking Resilience, Adaptation and Transformation in a Time of Change Wanglin Yan,Will Galloway,2017-03-21 This book contributes to the literature on resilience hazard planning risk management environmental policy and design presenting articles that focus on building resilience through social and technical means Bringing together contributions from Japanese authors the book also offers a rare English language glimpse into current policy and practice in Japan since the 2011 Tohoku disaster The growth of resilience as a common point of contact for fields as disparate as economics architecture and population politics reflects a shared concern about our capacity to cope with and adapt to change The ability to bounce back from hardship and disaster is essential to all of our futures Yet if such ability is to be sustainable and not rely on a brute force response innovation will need to become a core practice for policymakers and on the ground responders alike The book offers a valuable reference guide for graduate students researchers and policy analysts who are looking for a holistic but practical approach to resilience planning Rethinking

Development in South Asia Farid Uddin Ahamed, M. Saiful Islam, Amir Mohammad Nasrullah, 2022-03-17 This book challenges the way development has been conceptualized and practiced in South Asian context and argues for its deconstruction in a way that would allow freedom choice and greater well being for the local people Far from taking development for granted as growth and advancement this book unveils how development could also be a destructive force to local socio cultural and environmental contexts With a critical examination of such conventional development practices as hegemonic patriarchal devastating and failure it highlights how the rethinking of development could be seen as a matter of practice by incorporating people s interest priorities and participation The book theoretically challenges the conventional notion of hegemonic development and proposes alternative means and practically provides nuances of ethnographic knowledge which will be of great interest to policy planners development practitioners educationists and anyone interested in knowing more about how people think about their own development
