Environmental Politics in Southern Europe K. Eder, M. Kousis, 2012-12-06 Europe is sometimes credited with a polis but not a demos Political integration and economic globalisation cannot diminish local identity and social memories This fascinating collection of national case studies shows why there will always be a local demos located in ecology economy and society But there will never be a transnational demos precisely because locality is the basis for meaningful sustainability Long may it triumph Tim O Riordan CSERGE University of East Anglia The book offers a refreshing perspective on the diversity of Europe and at the same time on the interdependence of the policies economies and societies of European countries Going beyond the dichotomies of good and bad and leaders and laggards in environmental matters the authors contribute to a different understanding of the North South divide in the process of European integration Angela Liberatore European Commission Directorate General for Research This is a self consciously revisionist volume whose findings are theoretically significant policy relevant and timely Its insistence on bringing society back in its debunking of the notion of a Mediterranean syndrome its emphasis on developmental leapfrogging capacity of late comers to emerge as leaders in contexts of late modernity and its systematic attempt to reconceptualize the politics of Europeanization should be carefully listed to students and policy makers concerned with collective action Southern Europe European integration and environmental politics P Nikiforos Diamandouros University of Athens
