Contexts Of Canadas Past:

Contexts of Canada's Past W.L. Morton, 1980-01-01 New Contexts of Canadian Criticism Ajay Heble, Donna Palmateer Pennee, J.R. Struthers, 1997-04-18 Times change lives change and the terms we need to describe our literature or society or condition what Raymond Williams calls keywords change with them Perhaps the most significant development in the quarter century since Eli Mandel edited his anthology Contexts of Canadian Criticism has been the growing recognition that not only do different people need different terms but the same terms have different meanings for different people and in different contexts Nation history culture art identity the positions we take discussing these and other issues can lead to conflict but also hold the promise of a new sort of community Speaking of First Nations people and their literature Beth Brant observes that Our connections are like the threads of a weaving While the colour and beauty of each thread is unique and important together they make a communal material of strength and durability New Contexts of Canadian Criticism is designed to be read to work in much the same manner including Indigenous perspectives environmental justice and the unique challenges facing the North Enhanced with case studies key terms and a comprehensive glossary this new edition provides a thorough foundation for understanding the major environmental challenges of the twenty first century Changing Women, Changing History Diana Pederson,1996-10-15 Changing Women Changing History is a bibliographic guide to the scholarship both English and French on Canadian s women s history Organized under broad subject headings and accompanied by author and subject indices it is accessible and comprehensive Communicating in Canada's Past Gene Allen,Daniel Robinson,2009-11-14 Communicating in Canada s Past evolved out of essays presented at the inaugural Conference on Media History in Canada of 2006 which brought together media historians from across the disciplines and from both French and English Canada The first collection of its kind this volume assembles both well established and up and coming scholars to address sizable gaps in the literature on media history in Canada Communicating in Canada s Past includes a substantial introduction to media history as a field of study historiographical essays by senior scholars Mary Vipond Paul Rutherford and Fernande Roy and original research essays on a range of subjects including print journalism radio television and advertising Editors Gene Allen and Daniel J Robinson have provided a sophisticated wide ranging introduction for those who are new to media history while also assembling a valuable collection of new research and theory for those already familiar with the field Inculturalism: Meaning and Identity Daniel Boswell,Roger O'Shea,Efrat Tzadik,2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2013 In the contemporary era the subject of interculturalism is common in academic discussion however these questions of diversity and integration remain vague and in many cases the terminology is unconsolidated as its linguistic root culture remains equally ambiguous As part of the Diversity and Recognition hub the Inter Disiplinary Net project leading to this volume brought together researchers from different disciplines to explore how these issues affect meaning and identity Researchers from Australia Turkey Canada Finland Russia United States of America Belgium South Africa China United Kingdom Ukraine Romania Scotland Barbados Ireland Germany Slovenia Poland and Spain presented arguments and maintained discourse on a wide array of topics emerging from interculturalism and the development of new meanings and identities Contours of Canadian Thought A.B. McKillop,1987-12-15 The leaps of knowledge in nineteenth century science shook the foundations of religious and humanistic values throughout much of the world The Darwinian Revolution and similar developments presented enormous philosophical challenges to Canadian scientists philosophers and men of letters Their responses many and varied form a central theme in this collection of essays by one of Canada s leading intellectual historians McKillop explores the thought of a number of English Canadian thinkers from the 1860s to the 1920s decades that saw Canada s entry into the modern age We meet Daniel Wilson an educator and ethnologist for whom the pursuit of science was a form of poetic engagement requiring the poet s sensibilities John Watson one of the world s leading exponents of objective idealism whose philosophical premises helped to undermine the very religious tradition he sought to bolster and William Dawson LeSueur an apostle of Positivism whose spirited defence of critical inquiry and evolutionary social ethics led him towards an entirely contradictory position In addition to profiles of individuals McKillop considers the ways in which their ideas operated in the context of Canadian institutions including the universities and the press From these prospectives emerges a detailed analysis of the life of the mind of English Canada in an age of questioning of doubt and of struggle to reorient the intellectual and philosophical positions of a quickly changing society

To the Past Ruth Sandwell,2006-12-15 Recent years have witnessed a breakdown in consensus about what history should be taught within Canadian schools there is now a heightened awareness of the political nature of deciding whose history is or should be included in social studies and history classrooms Meanwhile as educators are debating what history should be taught developments in educational and cognitive research are expanding our understanding of how best to teach it To the Past explores some of the political cultural and educational issues surrounding what history education is and why we should care about it in the twenty first century in Canada Originally broadcast in the fall of 2002 on the CBC Radio program Ideas the lectures that comprise this volume not only address how history is taught in Canadian classrooms but also explore strands within larger discussions about the meaning and purposes of history more generally Contributors show how Canadians are demonstrating a new interest in what scholars have termed historical consciousness or collective memory through participation in a wide range of cultural activities from visiting museums to watching the History Channel Canadian adults and children alike seem to be seeking answers to questions of identity meaning community and nation in their study of the past Through this series of essays readers will have the opportunity to explore some of the political and ethical issues involved in this emerging field of Canadian citizenship through history as they learn about public memory and broadly defined history education in Canada
