Scottish Royal Palaces John G. Dunbar, 1999 The first exclusive study of a group of buildings of outstanding historical and architectural interest John G Dunbar discusses the organisation of the royal works the roles of the principal officials and tradesmen responsible for the construction of these palaces and how they functioned when the king and court were in residence He focuses particularly on Linlithgow Falkland Stirling Holyroodhouse and Edinburgh Castle Neolithic of Mainland Scotland Kenneth Brophy, 2016-03-16 Archaeologists show us how the Neolithic human lived in mainland Scotland What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000BC Where were people living How did they treat their dead Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments What was special about the relationship people had with trees and holes in the ground What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the ploughsoil or survives as slumped banks and ditches or ruinous megaliths Each contribution to this volume presents fresh research and radical new interpretations of the pits postholes ditches rubbish dumps human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears From the APF What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000BC Where were people living How did they treat their dead Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments What was special about the relationship people had with trees Why was so much time and effort spent digging holes and filling them back up again What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the plough soil or survives as slumped banks and filled ditches or ruinous megaliths This book will draw together leading experts and young researchers to present fresh research and outline radical new interpretations of the pits postholes ditches rubbish dumps human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears Much of this evidence has come to light in the past few decades putting the emphasis very much lowland mainland Scotland as opposed to more famous Orcadian Neolithic sites Inspired by the work of Gordon Barclay the leading scholars of Scotland's Neolithic in the last 40 years the chapters in this book offer a wide ranging analysis of the evidence we have for the first farmers in Scotland Historic Scotland David John Breeze, 1998 Glorious color photographs tell the story of Scotland and its people through its many historic sites and buildings With a foreword by Prince Charles Scotland's Castles Janet Brennan-Inglis, 2014-07-07 Scotland's Castles is a beautifully illustrated celebration and account of the renaissance of Scottish castles that has taken place since 1950 Over 100 ruined and derelict buildings from tiny towers to rambling baronial mansions have been restored as homes hotels and holiday lets These restorations have mainly been carried out by new owners without any connections to the land or the family history of the buildings which they bought as ruins Their struggles and triumphs including interviews and first person accounts form the core of the book set in the context of the enormous social political and economic changes of the late twentieth century The Cultural Landscape & Heritage Paradox Tom Bloemers, Henk Kars, Arnold Van der

Valk,2010 The basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscape s cultural and historical values It has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection This presents us with a paradox to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society The answer presented by the Protection and Development of the Dutch Archaeological Historical Landscape programme pdl bbo is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter and transdisciplinarity establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy Evolution of Scotland's Towns Patricia Dennison,2017-10-23 A new analysis of mind body unity based on the philosophy of Spinoza Between the Wind and the Water Caroline Wickham-Jones,2014-04-30 The archaeological sites of Orkney give us an unparalleled glimpse into prehistory Inscribed as the Heart of Neolithic Orkney World Heritage Site in 1999 four great monuments the village of Skara Brae the Ring of Brodgar the Stones of Stenness and the burial mound of Maeshowe are also at the center of the archipelago s story This book looks at what makes these monuments so special Caroline Wickham Jones explores the Neolithic world in which they were built how they came to be a focus through the ages and what they mean today Picts saints Vikings antiquarians and tourists populate Orkney s past a history which is channeled through these dances of stones This new second edition replaces the highly successful and widely used first edition which sold over 1 000 copies The text has been fully updated to take account of recent discoveries and research including the now world famous site Ness of Brodgar In addition there are over thirty new images including stunning photographs of Orkney s archaeology and landscape Heritage Planning Harold Kalman,2014-10-30 Heritage Planning Principles and Process provides a comprehensive overview of heritage planning as an area of professional practice The book first addresses the context and principles of heritage planning including land use law planning practice and international heritage doctrine all set within the framework of larger societal issues such as sustainability and ethics The book then takes readers through the pragmatic processes of heritage practice including collecting data identifying community opinion determining heritage significance the best practices and methods of creating a conservation plan and managing change Heritage Planning recognizes changing approaches to heritage conservation particularly the shift from the conservation of physical fabric to the present emphasis on retaining values associations and stories that historic places hold for their communities The transition has affected the practice of heritage planning and is important for those in the field It is essential reading for both professionals that manage change within the built environment and students of heritage conservation and historic preservation Aspects Of Stone Weathering, Decay And Conservation: Proceedings Of The 1997 Stone Weathering And Atmospheric Pollution Network Conference (Swapnet '97) Melanie S Jones,Rachel D Wakefield,1999-03-04 This book brings together papers by scientists conservators and building surveyors active in stone decay and conservation research within the UK It addresses issues of stone weathering mechanisms and rates the effects of urban pollution cleaning methods and the role of the conservator within research The concepts regarding the value of stone heritage are also discussed as an important aspect towards retaining our diverse building heritage Scotland--the Brand David McCrone,Angela Morris,Richard Kiely,1995 Tartanry and Balmorality is Scotland s thriving heritage industry an economic blessing or the curse of negative stereotyping Since the eighteenth century heritage has been synonymous with heritage tourism This book is the first to explore the images which this industry conveys and to analyse its centrality to Scotland s definition of itself Based on an influential study by three leading sociologists it examines the specific role and character of the major players in Scottish heritage the National Trust for Scotland the Scottish Tourist Board and Historic Scotland as well as the lairds who have a stake in the industry In describing its consumers the authors show how heritage fits into their patterns of leisure consumption and lifestyle It also discusses the importance of heritage as opposed to history to the country s identity and politics Countryside Planning Kevin Bishop,Adrian
