Bricolage Ex Machina:

Bricolage Ex Machina Carl Watson, 1990 Transforming Schools Miranda Jefferson, Michael Anderson, 2017-02-09

Transforming Schools demonstrates how transformation is no longer an option in teaching and learning it has become a necessity. Changes in the way we work and the challenges of issues such as climate change, poverty, and migration mean that teaching and learning need to alter to incorporate capacities that will help us meet those challenges. The 4Cs: Creativity, Critical Reflection, Communication, and Collaboration have long been present in education but Transforming Schools demonstrates how schools can change teaching and leadership to embed and enact the 4Cs to make them central to dynamic and exciting learning. Miranda Jefferson and Michael Anderson demonstrate how a renewed approach to teaching that integrates the 4Cs can better equip today's learners. They draw on their own international research and experiences in school transformation in a variety of school settings working in partnership with practitioners, researchers, students, and the community. The authors consider how schools might reorganise themselves to become more relevant to their students and to the community. Practical strategies for transformation are included throughout the chapters to demonstrate how learning can be supported and how the 4Cs can be made explicit in schools. These examples will support school leadership teams and teachers to explicitly teach the 4Cs in relevant and challenging ways. This book is essential reading for those looking to transform schools and more effectively meet the needs of today's learners.

Lingua Ex Machina William H. Calvin, Derek Bickerton, 2000. A neuroscientist and a linguist show how evolution could have given rise to structured language. A machine for language. Certainly say the neurophysiologists busy studying the language specializations of the human brain and trying to identify their evolutionary antecedents. Linguists such as Noam Chomsky talk about machinelike modules in the brain for syntax, arguing that language is more an instinct, a complex behavior triggered by simple environmental stimuli than an acquired skill like riding a bicycle. But structured language presents the same evolutionary problems as feathered forelimbs for flight: you need a lot of specializations to fly, even a little bit. How do you get them if evolution has no foresight and the intermediate stages do not have intermediate payoffs? Some say that the Darwinian scheme for gradual species self-improvement cannot explain our most valued human capability, the one that sets us so far above the apes: language itself. William Calvin and Derek Bickerton suggest that other evolutionary developments, not directly related to language, allowed language to evolve in a way that eventually promoted a Chomskian syntax. They compare these intermediate behaviors to the curb cuts originally intended for wheelchair users. Their usefulness was soon discovered by users of strollers, shopping carts.

rollerblades and so on The authors argue that reciprocal altruism and ballistic movement planning were curb cuts that indirectly promoted the formation of structured language Written in the form of a dialogue set in Bellagio Italy Lingua ex Machina presents an engaging challenge to those who view the human capacity for language as a winner take all war between Chomsky and Darwin The Hotel of Irrevocable Acts Carl Watson,2008 In the warped underworld of Uptown Chicago two petty thieves Jack and Vince Dostoevskyan in their criminal use of philosophy exalting in the stealing of art as the highest human act meet their target their nemesis and their double Madame Little Ease a Satanic Grandma Moses who paints on refuse with polluted blood The Astral Geographic Andy Sharp,2023-10-10 EXPLORE THE LANDSCAPES OF THE OCCULT EXPAND THE HORIZONS OF YOUR CONSCIOUSNESS This ground breaking new approach to the history of magic explores the occult through geography inviting you to embark on ten astral travel journeys that span centuries and continents Each itinerary comes complete with a route map postcards of the sites artworks of magical artefacts and an essay exploring a key occult theme from necromancy and alchemy to standing stones and drowned cities Follow in the hoof steps of the Devil from ancient Egypt to London s Hellfire Club to the black magic venues of 1960s San Francisco invoke angels and demons in the Algerian desert meet witches in the Mediterranean temples of Hekate and Circe and the ancient cemeteries of Scandinavia practise cloud divination in druidic Ireland then travel to the English countryside in search of hidden hexes and much more Finally try practising magic for yourself using the Grimoire Terra a manual that teaches how to use geography as a magical tool Discover how to perform rituals in different terrains use your surroundings to catalyze altered states of consciousness explore astral travel and seed your own lucid dreams Belle Catastrophe Carl Watson,1997

(Frank) Bosman, 2019-04-18 Video game studies are a relative young but flourishing academic discipline But within game studies however the perspective of religion and spirituality is rather neglected both by game scholars and religion scholars While religion can take different shapes in digital games ranging from material and referential to reflexive and ritual it is not necessarily true that game developers depict their in-game religions in a positive confirming way but ever so often games approach the topic critically and disavowingly The religion criticisms found in video games can be categorized as follows religion as 1 fraud aimed to manipulate the uneducated as 2 blind obedience towards an invisible but ultimately non-existing deity as 3 violence against those who do not share the same set of religious rules as 4 madness a deranged alternative for logical reasoning and as 5 suppression in the hands of the powerful elite to dominate and subdue the masses into submission and obedience The critical depictions of religion in video games by their developers is the focus of this special issue The Book of Music and Nature David Rothenberg, Marta Ulvaeus, 2001 A provocative book and CD explore the relationship of music and the natural world What Do Philosophers of Education Do? Claudia Ruitenberg, 2010-05-18 This volume of essays demonstrates and comments on philosophical methods in educational research Offers a clear picture of what philosophers do when they study education Brings together a series of essays from an international cast of contributors from Canada UK Finland and Cyprus Examines a range of new and established philosophical methods which can be used in educational research Demonstrates how philosophy of education can be understood methodologically Draws from both Continental and Analytical traditions Fills a gap in the research methods literature in education and the social sciences A Biography of Ordinary Man François Laruelle, 2018-01-16 This book is a foundational text for our understanding of François Laruelle one of France's leading thinkers whose ideas have emerged as an important touchstone for contemporary theoretical discussions across multiple disciplines One of Laruelle's first systematic elaborations of his ethical and non-philosophical thought this critical dialogue with some of the dominant voices of continental philosophy offers a rigorous science of individuals as minorities or as separated from the World History and Philosophy Through novel theorizations of finitude and determination in the last instance Laruelle develops a thought of the One as a minoritarian paradigm that resists those paradigms that foreground difference as the conceptual matrix for understanding the status of the minority The critique of the unitary illusion of philosophy developed here stands at the foundation of Laruelle's approach to uni lateralizing the power of philosophy and the universals with which it has always thought and thereby acts as a basis for his subsequent investigations of victims mysticism and Gnosticism This book will appeal to students and scholars of continental philosophy philosophy of religion ethics aesthetics and cultural theory
