Berlin Metropole Zwischen Boom Und Krise:

Berlin: Metropole zwischen Boom und Krise Stefan Krätke, Renate Borst, 2013-04-17 Neue glitzernde Immobilien Fassaden werden häufig als Symbol einer gelungenen Aufwertung Berlins im Kreise der Metropolen Europas angesehen. Dagegen ist die wirtschaftliche Entwicklung der Stadt in den 90er Jahren vor allem durch eine Beschäftigungskrise gekennzeichnet, die nicht zuletzt auf die sozialräumliche Entwicklung durchschlägt. Das Buch analysiert die wirtschaftlichen, sozialen und räumlichen Strukturveränderungen Berlins in den 90er Jahren aus der Perspektive vergleichender Metropolenforschung. So stellt die Arbeit aber nicht nur ein Berlin-Buch dar, sondern einen exemplarischen Beitrag zur integralen sozioökonomischen Stadtanalyse, die ökonomische, soziologische und geographische Sichtweisen zusammenführt.

Framing Strategic Urban Projects Willem Salet, Enrico Gualini, 2006-12-14 Presenting the findings of extensive research into the development of planning tools and strategies since the early 1970s, this book addresses key issues in urban development governance and brings together a range of different national experiences. Helpfully divided into three sections, Framing Strategic Urban Projects sets out the study framework with its social policy and institutional contexts, uses up-to-date European case studies to highlight different planning issues including new urbanism, information networks and public partnerships, and finally makes good practice recommendations. Offering a systematic comparison of a wide variety of projects and providing useful case study material of these large-scale urban projects and recommendations, this book is essential reading for planners, policy makers and students interested in how to make strategic urban projects work effectively.

City Unsilenced Jeffrey Hou, Sabine Knierbein, 2017-06-26 What do the recent urban resistance tactics around the world have in common? What are the roles of public space in these movements? What are the implications of urban resistance for the remaking of public space in the age of shrinking democracy? To what extent do these resistances move from anti to alter politics? City Unsilenced brings together a cross-disciplinary group of scholars and scholar-activists to examine the spaces, conditions and processes in which neoliberal practices have profoundly impacted the everyday social, economic and political life of citizens and communities around the globe. They explore the commonalities and specificities of urban resistance movements that respond to those impacts. They focus on how such movements make use of and transform the meanings and capacity of public space. They investigate their ramifications in the continued practices of renewing democracies. A broad collection of cases is presented and analyzed, including Movimento Passe Livre, Brazil; Google Bus Blockades, San Francisco, USA; the Platform for Mortgage Affected People (PAH), Spain; the Piqueteros Movement, Argentina; Umbrella Movement, Hong Kong; post-Occupy Gezi Park, Turkey; Sunflower Movement, Taiwan; Occupy Oakland, USA; Syntagma Square, Greece; Researchers for Fair Policing, New York; Urban Movement Congress, Poland; urban activism, Berlin; 1DMX, Mexico; Miyashita Park, Tokyo, Japan; 15M Movement, Spain; and Train of Hope and protests against Academic Ball in Vienna, Austria. By better understanding the processes and implications of the recent urban resistances, City Unsilenced contributes to the ongoing debates concerning the role and significance of public space in the practice of lived democracy Locating Urban Conflicts W. Pullan, B. Baillie, 2013-07-29 Cities have emerged as the epicentres for many of today's ethno national and religious conflicts This book brings together key themes that dominate our current attention including emerging areas of contestation in rapidly changing and modernising cities and the effects of extreme and/or enduring conflicts upon ordinary civilian life The New Economy in Transatlantic Perspective Kurt Huebner, 2005-02-03 What's left from the new economy This book takes an unfashionable perspective and shows that despite all the mistaken ideas and exaggerations the technological changes of the 1990s still have important effects today Economic history shows that technological revolutions tend to generate deep economic and social crises before a temporary state of equilibrium is reached The established modes of accumulations and regimes of regulation of national capitalisms and international capitalism have been undermined by the collapse of the high tech asset bubble Financial markets are still in disarray What can be observed however is that national economies are better positioned to tackle the crisis than others Why is this This and other important questions are tackled by an international team of contributors including Daniele Archibugi Harald Hagemann Bruno Amable Martin Heidenreich and David Gibbs This volume should be of great interest to all those working at the intersection of international politics and economics

Housing in the Margins Hanna Hilbrandt, 2021-07-01 Housing in the Margins offers a theoretically informed and empirically detailed exploration of unruly housing practices and their governance at the periphery of Berlin An original empirical contribution to understanding housing precarity in the context of the German housing crisis A novel approach to theorizing the nexus of informality and the state in ways that bridge analytical divides between debates about Northern and Southern states An innovative account of urban development in Berlin that contributes to the limited discussions of urban informality in Euro American cities A theoretical understanding of the ways in which negotiations and transgressions are embedded in the making of urban order A historically informed narrative of the development of allotment gardens in Berlin with a particular focus on housing practices at these sites Contesting Neoliberalism Helga Leitner, Jamie Peck, Eric S.

Sheppard, 2007-01-01 Neoliberalism's market revolution realized through practices like privatization deregulation fiscal devolution and workfare programs has had a transformative effect on contemporary cities The consequences of market oriented politics for urban life have been widely studied but less attention has been given to how grassroots groups nongovernmental organizations and progressive city administrations are fighting back In case studies written from a variety of theoretical and political perspectives this book examines how struggles around such issues as affordable housing public services and space neighborhood sustainability living wages workers rights fair trade and democratic governance are reshaping urban political geographies in North America and around the world Gaining Freedoms Berna

Turam, 2015-04-08 Gaining Freedoms reveals a new locus for global political change everyday urban contestation Cities are often assumed hotbeds of socio economic division but this assessment overlooks the importance of urban space and the everyday activities of urban life for empowerment emancipation and democratization Through proximity neighborhoods streets and squares can create unconventional power contestations over lifestyle and consumption And through struggle negotiation and cooperation competing claims across groups can become platforms to defend freedom and rights from government encroachments Drawing on more than seven years of fieldwork in three contested urban sites a downtown neighborhood and a university campus in Istanbul and a Turkish neighborhood in Berlin Berna Turam shows how democratic contestation echoes through urban space Countering common assumptions that Turkey is strongly polarized between Islamists and secularists she illustrates how contested urban space encourages creative politics the kind of politics that advance rights expression and representation shared between pious and secular groups Exceptional moments of protest like the recent Gezi protests which bookend this study offer clear external signs of upheaval and disruption but it is the everyday contestation and interaction that forge alliances and inspire change Ultimately Turam argues that the process of democratization is not the reduction of conflict but rather the capacity to form new alliances out of conflict

Towards Effective Place Brand Management Gregory Ashworth, Mihalis Kavaratzis, 2010-01-01 Many facets of place branding such as identities image promotion or sense of place have been around for a long time However the need to analyse their nature in the context of branding and to examine their relationships in detail has grown rapidly in the last decade or so as places all over the world have put branding activities higher than ever in their agenda This important new book examines and clarifies key aspects of the recently popularised concept of place branding expounding many controversies confusions and discords in the field The expert contributors clarify several unresolved issues surrounding the application of place branding in particular its multiple goals They provide a detailed analysis of the role of local communities in place branding strategies and illustrate not only how but also why brand management should be implemented Case studies from a range of jurisdictions and cultural and political viewpoints are drawn upon each illustrating an array of issues or techniques in specific economic cultural and geographical contexts This book provides a theoretically informed but practically oriented overview and discussion of the increasingly popular field of place branding as an instrument of place management As such it will strongly appeal to both academics and practitioners in the fields of place marketing place branding local development tourism planning and development tourism marketing cultural geography urban and regional planning Consultants in local authorities national and regional tourism boards will also find this to be a fascinating read

Whose Urban Renaissance? Libby Porter, Kate Shaw, 2009-01-13 The desire of governments for a renaissance of their cities is a defining feature of contemporary urban policy From Melbourne and Toronto to Johannesburg and Istanbul government policies are successfully attracting investment and middle class populations to their inner areas Regeneration or gentrification as it can often become produces winners and losers There is a substantial literature on the causes and unequal effects of gentrification and on the global and local conditions driving processes of dis and re investment But there is little examination of the actual strategies used to achieve urban regeneration what were their intents did they succeed and if not why not and what were the specific consequences Whose Urban Renaissance asks who benefits from these urban transformations The book contains beautifully written and accessible stories from researchers and activists in 21 cities across Europe North and South America Asia South Africa the Middle East and Australia each exploring a specific case of urban regeneration Some chapters focus on government or market strategies driving the regeneration process and look closely at the effects Others look at the local contingencies that influence the way these strategies work Still others look at instances of opposition and struggle and at policy interventions that were used in some places to ameliorate the inequities of gentrification Working from these stories the editors develop a comparative analysis of regeneration strategies with nuanced assessments of local constraints and counteracting policy responses The concluding chapters provide a critical comparison of existing strategies and open new directions for more equitable policy approaches in the future Whose Urban Renaissance is targeted at students academics planners policy makers and activists The book is unique in its geographical breadth and its constructive policy emphasis offering a succinct critical and timely exploration of urban regeneration strategies throughout the world Konnektivität, Netzwerk und Fluss Andreas Hepp, Friedrich Krotz, Shaun Moores, Carsten Winter, 2007-12-09 Das Buch setzt sich mit drei Schlüsselkonzepten der gegenwärtigen Kommunikations Medien und Kulturwissenschaft auseinander nämlich Konnektivität Netzwerk und Fluss In verschiedenen Beiträgen einschließig ausgewiesener Autorinnen und Autoren wird aufgezeigt dass es diese drei Konzepte sind die es uns ermöglichen Prozesse von Medienkommunikation auf eine der heutigen Zeit angemessenen Weise zu fassen

Creativity and Space Joachim Thiel, 2019-06-04 Originally published in 2005 By examining the changing patterns of the German advertising industry from a spatial economic perspective focusing on the rise of Hamburg as the country's new creative capital this book discusses the shifting relations between economic organization social relations and spatial structures in the post industrial economy It argues that it is the professional labour market which drives the organization and the spatial structure of knowledge intensive activities It does not however only imply the increasing importance of labour as a factor of production but also suggests an increasing uncertainty linked to the nature of knowledge labour Illustrated by in depth empirical material the book brings together debates on reflexive modernization and individualization with those on embeddedness and on the role of business services in regional development It concludes that it is the labour market of professionals which provides a regional and social anchoring of economic activities while at the same time pointing out the increasing importance of metropolitan regions Globalization, Regionalization and Cross-Border Regions M. Perkmann, N. Sum, 2002-07-12 Cross border regions are newly emerging social spaces stretching across national borders Globalization makes national borders more permeable and leads to a rearrangement of economic and political interactions This is particularly pronounced within supra regional blocs featuring specific internal border regimes The ensuing opportunities are increasingly seized to create border spanning discourses and institutions This is illustrated in the book by a range of experts analyzing cross border regions in Europe America East Asia and Africa The Creative Capital of Cities Stefan Krätke,2012-05-03 This book challenges the new urban growth concepts of the creative class and creative industries from a critical urban theory perspective Critiques Richard Florida s popular books about cities and the creative class Presents an alternative approach based on analyses of empirical research data concerning the German urban system and the case study regions Hanover and Berlin Underscores that the culture industry takes a leading role in conforming with neoliberal conceptions of labor markets Transcultural Communication Andreas Hepp,2015-04-27 In Transcultural Communication Andreas Hepp provides an accessible and engaging introduction to the exciting possibilities and inevitable challenges presented by the proliferation of transcultural communication in our mediatized world Includes examples of mediatization and transcultural communication from a variety of cultural contexts Covers an array of different types of media including mass media and digital media Incorporates discussion of transcultural communication in media regulation media production media products and platforms and media appropriation Gentrification in a Global Context Rowland Atkinson,Gary Bridge,2004-12-10 Gentrification a process of class neighbourhood upgrading is being identified in a broader range of urban contexts throughout the world This book throws new light and evidence to bear on a subject that deeply divides commentators on its worth and social costs given its ability to physically improve areas but also to displace indigenous inhabitants Gentrification in a Global Perspective brings together the most recent theoretical and empirical research on gentrification at a global scale Each author gives an overview of gentrification in their country so that each chapter retains a unique approach but tackles a common theme within a shared framework The main feature of the book is a critical and well written set of chapters on a process that is currently undergoing a resurgence of interest and one that shows no sign of abating Structures of Memory Jennifer A. Jordan,2006 Structures of Memory turns to the landscape of contemporary Berlin particularly places marked by the presence of the Nazi regime in order to understand how some places of great cruelty or great heroism are forgotten by all but eyewitnesses while others become the site of public ceremonies museums or commemorative monuments Framing Attention Lutz Koepnick,2007-01-15 In Framing Attention Lutz Koepnick explores different concepts of the window in both a literal and a figurative sense as manifested in various visual forms in German culture from the nineteenth century to the present He offers a new interpretation of how evolving ways of seeing have characterized and defined modernity Koepnick examines the role and representation of window frames in modern German culture in painting photography architecture and literature on the stage and in public transportation systems on the film screen and on television He presents such frames as interfaces that negotiate competing visions of past and present body and community attentiveness and distraction From Adolph Menzel s window paintings of the 1840s to Nam June Paik s experiments with television screens from Richard Wagner s retooling of the proscenium stage to Adolf Hitler s use of a window as a means of political self promotion Framing Attention offers a theoretically incisive understanding of how

Staging the New Berlin Claire Colomb, 2013-06-17 This book explores the politics of place marketing and the process of urban reinvention in Berlin between 1989 and 2011 In the context of the dramatic socio economic restructuring processes changes in urban governance and physical transformation of the city following the Fall of the Wall the new Berlin was not only being built physically but staged for visitors and Berliners and marketed to the world through events and image campaigns which featured the iconic architecture of large scale urban redevelopment sites Public private partnerships were set up specifically to market the new Berlin to potential investors tourists Germans and the Berliners themselves The book analyzes the images of the city and the narrative of urban change which were produced over two decades In the 1990s three key sites were turned into icons of the new Berlin the new Postdamer Platz the new government quarter and the redeveloped historical core of the Friedrichstadt Eventually the entire inner city was staged through a series of events which turned construction sites into tourist attractions New sites and spaces gradually became part of the 2000s place marketing imagery and narrative as urban leaders sought to promote the creative city By combining urban political economy and cultural approaches from the disciplines of urban politics geography sociology and planning the book contributes to a better understanding of the interplay between the symbolic politics of representation through place marketing and the politics of urban development and place making in contemporary urban governance
