White Fang (Illustrated) Jack London,2014-03-13 The story begins before the three quarters wolf dog hybrid is born with two men and their sled dog team on a journey to deliver a coffin to a remote town named Fort McGurry in the higher area of the Yukon Territory Canada The men Bill and Henry are stalked by a large pack of starving wolves over the course of several days Finally after all of their dogs and Bill have been eaten four more teams find Henry trying to escape from the wolves the wolf pack scatters when they hear the large group of people coming The story then follows the pack which has been robbed of its last prey When the pack finally brings down a moose the famine is ended they eventually split up and the story now follows a she wolf and her mate One Eye The she wolf gives birth to a litter of five cubs by the Mackenzie River and all but one die from hunger One Eye is killed by a lynx while trying to rob its den for food for the she wolf and her cub his mate later discovers his remains near the lynx s den The surviving cub and the she wolf are left to fend for themselves Shortly afterward the she wolf kills all the lynx kittens prompting the lynx to track her down and a vicious fight breaks out The she wolf eventually kills the lynx but suffers severe injury the lynx carcass is devoured over a period of seven days

White Fang Jack London,2024-02-10 It was the she wolf who had first caught the sound of men s voices and the whining of the sled dogs and it was the she wolf who was first to spring away from the cornered man in his circle of dying flame The pack had been loath to forego the kill it had hunted down and it lingered for several minutes making sure of the sounds and then it too sprang away on the trail made by the she wolf Running at the forefront of the pack was a large grey wolf one of its several leaders It was he who directed the pack s course on the heels of the she wolf It was he who snarled warningly at the younger members of the pack or slashed at them with his

fangs when they ambitiously tried to pass him And it was he who increased the pace when he sighted the she wolf now trotting slowly across the snow She dropped in alongside by him as though it were her appointed position and took the pace of the pack He did not snarl at her nor show his teeth when any leap of hers chanced to put her in advance of him On the contrary he seemed kindly disposed toward her too kindly to suit her for he was prone to run near to her and when he ran too near it was she who snarled and showed her teeth Nor was she above slashing his shoulder sharply on occasion At such times he betrayed no anger He merely sprang to the side and ran stiffly ahead for several awkward leaps in carriage and conduct resembling an abashed country swain This was his one trouble in the running of the pack but she had other troubles On her other side ran a gaunt old wolf grizzled and marked with the scars of many battles He ran always on her right side The fact that he had but one eye and that the left eye might account for this He also was addicted to crowding her to veering toward her till his scarred muzzle touched her body or shoulder or neck As with the running mate on the left she repelled these attentions with her teeth but when both bestowed their attentions at the same time she was roughly jostled being compelled with quick snaps to either side to drive both lovers away and at the same time to maintain her forward leap with the pack and see the way of her feet before her At such times her running mates flashed their teeth and growled threateningly across at each other They might have fought but even wooing and its rivalry waited upon the more pressing hunger need of the pack After each repulse when the old wolf sheered abruptly away from the sharp toothed object of his desire he shouldered against a young three year old that ran on his blind right side This young wolf had attained his full size and considering the weak and famished condition of the pack he possessed more than the average vigour and spirit Nevertheless he ran with his head even with the shoulder of his one eyed elder When he ventured to run abreast of the older wolf which was seldom a snarl and a snap sent him back even with the shoulder again Sometimes however he dropped cautiously and slowly behind and edged in between the old leader and the she wolf This was doubly resented even triply resented When she snarled her displeasure the old leader would whirl on the three year old Sometimes she whirled with him And sometimes the young leader on the left whirled too At such times confronted by three sets of savage teeth the young wolf stopped precipitately throwing himself back on his haunches with fore legs stiff mouth menacing and mane bristling This confusion in the front of the moving pack always caused confusion in the rear The wolves behind collided with the young wolf and expressed their displeasure by administering sharp nips on his hind legs and flanks He was laying up trouble for himself for lack of food and short tempers went together but with the boundless faith of youth he persisted in repeating the manoeuvre every little while though it never succeeded in gaining anything for him but discomfiture
