Conceptualizing/Re-conceptualizing Africa Maghan Keita, 2021-10-11 Africa is a legitimizing factor in the world some might argue because of the weakness of its position in the world others might say because of the realization on the part of some African leaders that there are strengths inherent to their states positions that can be tapped Africa's place in the world is being re thought and re shaped And that is exactly what this book is about the authors invite and incite the reader to a much closer and nuanced reading of Africa and its history and the way in which that history over time and space allows for a re conceptualization of Africa's role and place in the world The authors evoke W E B Du Bois on the invention of identity in the modern world In that light these works remind us as Du Bois would that the current invention of Africa is indeed a modern one an identity configured in numerous ways with and without our interventions Contributions by Lamont de Haven King State and Ethnicity in Nigeria Jesse Benjamin Nubians and Nabateans Jeremy Prestholdt Portuguese on the Swahili Coast Thomas Ricks Slaves in Shi'i Iran AD 1500 1900 Launay Robert Late Seventeenth Century Narratives of Travel to Asia and Richard J Payne and Cassandra Veney Taiwan and Africa The Hero with an African Face Clyde W.

Ancient Africa Christopher Ehret, 2024-11-05 A panoramic narrative that places ancient Africa on the stage of world history This book brings together archaeological and linguistic evidence to provide a sweeping global history of ancient Africa tracing how the continent played an important role in the technological agricultural and economic transitions of world civilization Christopher Ehret takes readers from the close of the last Ice Age some ten thousand years ago when a changing climate allowed for the transition from hunting and gathering to the cultivation of crops and raising of livestock to the rise of kingdoms and empires in the first centuries of the common era Ehret takes up the problem of how we discuss Africa in the context of global history combining results of multiple disciplines He sheds light on the rich history of technological innovation by African societies from advances in ceramics to cotton weaving and iron smelting highlighting the important contributions of women as inventors and innovators He shows how Africa helped to usher in an age of agricultural exchange exporting essential crops as well as new agricultural methods into other regions and how African traders and merchants led a commercial revolution spanning diverse regions and cultures Ehret lays out the deeply African foundations of ancient Egyptian culture beliefs and institutions and discusses early Christianity in Africa A monumental achievement by one of today's eminent scholars Ancient Africa offers vital new perspectives on our shared past explaining why we need to reshape our historical frameworks for understanding the ancient world as a whole

Imagined Robin Derricourt,2015-06-26 Outsiders have long attributed to the Middle East and especially to ancient Egypt meanings that go way beyond the rational and observable The region has been seen as the source of civilization religion the sciences and the arts but also of mystical knowledge and outlandish theories whether about the Lost City of Atlantis or visits by alien beings In his exploration of how its past has been creatively interpreted by later ages Robin Derricourt surveys the various claims that have been made for Egypt particularly the idea that it harbours an esoteric wisdom vital to the world's survival He looks at alternative interpretations of the pyramids from maps of space and time to landing markers for UFOs at images of the Egyptian mummy and at the popular mythology of the pharaoh's curse and at imperialist ideas of racial superiority that credited Egypt with spreading innovations and inventions as far as the Americas Australia and China Including arcane ideas about the Lost Ten Tribes of biblical Israel the author enlarges his focus to include the Levant His book is the first to show in depth how ancient Egypt and the surrounding lands have so continuously and seductively tantalised the Western imagination

Kingship and State Christopher Wrigley,2002-05-16 The precolonial kingdom of Buganda nucleus of the present Uganda state has long attracted scholarly interest Since written records are lacking entirely until 1862 historians have had to rely on oral traditions that were recorded from the end of the nineteenth century These sources provide rich materials on Buganda in the late eighteenth and nineteenth centuries but in this 1996 book Christopher Wrigley endeavours to show that the stories which appear to relate to earlier periods are largely mythology He argues that this does not reduce their value since they are of interest in their own mythical right revealing ancient traces of sacred kingship and also throwing oblique light on the development of the recent state He has written an elegant and wide ranging study of one of Africa s most famous kingdoms

The Paleoanthropology and Archaeology of Big-Game Hunting John D. Speth,2010-09-08 Since its inception paleoanthropology has been closely wedded to the idea that big game hunting by our hominin ancestors arose first and foremost as a means for acquiring energy and vital nutrients This assumption has rarely been questioned and seems intuitively obvious meat is a nutrient rich food with the ideal array of amino acids and big animals provide meat in large convenient packages Through new research the author of this volume provides a strong argument that the primary goals of big game hunting were actually social and political increasing hunter s prestige and standing and that the nutritional component was just an added bonus Through a comprehensive interdisciplinary research approach the author examines the historical and current perceptions of protein as an important nutrient source the biological impact of a high protein diet and the evidence of this in the archaeological record and provides a compelling reexamination of this long held conclusion This volume will be of interest to researchers in Archaeology Evolutionary Biology and Paleoanthropology particularly those studying diet and nutrition
