Visions of Dystopia in China's New Historical Novels Jeffrey C. Kinkley, 2014-11-04 The depiction of personal and collective suffering in modern Chinese novels differs significantly from standard Communist accounts and most Eastern and Western historical narratives Writers such as Yu Hua Su Tong Wang Anyi Mo Yan Han Shaogong Ge Fei Li Rui and Zhang Wei scramble common conceptions of China's modern development deploying avant garde narrative techniques from Latin American and Euro American modernism to project a surprisingly un-Chinese dystopian vision and critical view of human culture and ethics The epic narratives of modern Chinese fiction make rich use of magical realism surrealism and unusual treatments of historical time Also featuring graphic depictions of sex and violence and dark raunchy comedy these novels deeply reflect China's turbulent recent history re-presenting the overthrow of the monarchy in the early twentieth century and the resulting chaos of revolution and war the recurring miseries perpetrated by class warfare during the dictatorship of Mao Zedong and the social dislocations caused by China's industrialization and rise as a global power This book casts China's highbrow historical novels from the 1990s to the mid 2000s as a distinctively Chinese contribution to the form of the global dystopian novel and consequently to global thinking about the interrelations of utopia and dystopia

Deppman,2010-04-30 Contemporary Chinese films are popular with audiences worldwide but a key reason for their success has gone unnoticed many of the films are adapted from brilliant literary works This book is the first to put these landmark films in the context of their literary origins and explore how the best Chinese directors adapt fictional narratives and styles for film Hsiu Chuang Deppman unites aesthetics with history in her argument that the rise of cinema in China Hong Kong and Taiwan in the late 1980s was partly fueled by burgeoning literary movements Fifth Generation director Zhang Yimou s highly acclaimed films Red Sorghum, Raise the Red Lantern and To Live are built on the experimental works of Mo Yan, Su Tong and Yu Hua respectively. Hong Kong new wave's Ann Hui and Stanley Kwan capitalized on the irresistible visual metaphors of Eileen Chang's postrealism. Hou Xiaoxian's new Taiwan cinema turned to fiction by Huang Chunming and Zhu Tianwen for fine grained perspectives on class and gender relations. Delving equally into the individual approaches of directors and writers, Deppman initiates readers into the exciting possibilities emanating from the world of Chinese cinema. The seven in depth studies include a diverse array of forms: cinematic adaptation of literature, literary adaptation of film, auto adaptation and non narrative adaptation and a variety of genres: martial arts, melodrama, romance, autobiography, documentary, drama. Complementing this formal diversity is a geographical range that far exceeds the cultural, linguistic and physical boundaries of China. The directors represented here also work in the U.S. and Europe and reflect the growing international resources of Chinese language cinema. With her sophisticated blend of stylistic and historical analyses, Deppman brings much needed nuance to current conversations about the politics of gender, class and race in the work of the most celebrated Chinese writers and directors. Her pioneering study will appeal to all readers, general and academic who have an interest in Chinese literature, cinema and culture.

Chinese Femininities/Chinese Masculinities Susan Brownell, Jeffrey N. Wasserstrom, 2002-01-07 Chinese Literature Lydia H. Liu Modern Chinese Literature, 1998 Contemporary Chinese Novels in Translation since 1978 Yun Wu, 2024-10-14

This book aims to complement the traditional focus of translation studies which has primarily centered on translating English into other languages. It presents a comprehensive analysis of the reverse translation trajectory exploring the movement of Chinese literature into the core English literary domain. The book aims to explore the ideological and sociological dynamics that underlie the translation of contemporary Chinese novels. This is achieved through an examination of the translation selection process, translation paratexts and the roles of translation agents. Case studies are employed to illustrate specific linguistic, literary and cultural challenges within translation. It dissects the cultural and literary implications of translating genres such as women's writing, science fiction and Internet literature. The argument presented is that the translation of peripheral literature is indispensable in shaping global literature. Beyond its literary implications, the book identifies the political significance inherent in such reverse translation endeavors. It suggests that the translation of Chinese literature holds notable political interest for the Chinese government which aims to reshape China's image and bolster the nation's soft power through literary translation. This work will be an essential read to students and scholars of translation studies, comparative literature and Chinese studies.
