Clinical And Educational Interventions With Fathers:

Clinical and Educational Interventions with Fathers Jay Fagan, Alan Hawkins, 2018-10-24 Call on men's hidden strengths to help them become responsible fathers in even the most challenging circumstances. Clinical and Educational Interventions with Fathers gives you fresh approaches for effective interventions with fathers. Whether by calling on their faith to help them deal with the complexities of fatherhood or offering high tech interventions on the Internet, these techniques help men find their strengths, maintain their masculinity, and learn to guide, nurture, and discipline with love and responsibility. Instead of thinking of fathers as deficient, the book emphasizes finding fathers' strengths and potentials for growth. It also respects the diversity of parenting styles among fathers from various ethnic, racial, and class backgrounds. No man wants to be a bad father. Nevertheless, many men in our culture do not know how to care for the children they beget. Trapped by stereotypes of masculine behavior and deprived of positive role models, they find themselves trying to do the challenging work of fatherhood without the necessary resources, information, or support. Clinical and Educational Interventions with Fathers offers positive approaches to helping men become responsible fathers, including designing special techniques and programs to help fathers in prison and other challenging circumstances, helping fathers manage anger, developing therapeutic support groups for African American men, offering Web-based support for fathers, training staff to recognize and respond to fathers' unique needs, finding legal tools to support fathers' rights. Reaching fathers has become an ever more urgent priority for practitioners as family structure and family life change. Traditional social service programs for mothers tend not to work well with men's very different needs and attitudes. Yet very little has been published on successful interventions with fathers. Clinical and Educational Interventions with Fathers fills that gap and suggests promising new directions for further research in this field. By offering positive, tested ways to help men become responsible fathers, this volume will help you improve their lives and the lives of their sons and daughters. Clinical and Educational

Bornstein,2002 Despite the fact that most people become parents and everyone who has ever lived has had parents parenting remains a mystifying subject about which almost everyone has opinions but about which few people agree Striking permutations on the theme of parenting are emerging single parenthood blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads Divided into four volumes the Handbook of Parenting is concerned with different types of parents basic characteristics of parenting forces that shape parenting problems faced by parents and the practical sides of parenting Contributors have worked in different ways toward understanding all of these diverse aspects of parenting and look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent has wondered about Because development is too subtle dynamic and intricate to admit that parental caregiving alone determines the course and outcome of ontogeny Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein,2005-02-16 Please see Volume I for a full description and table of contents for all four volumes Gender in the Therapy Hour Holly Barlow Sweet,2012-08-21 There is no shortage of literature about working with men in counseling and psychotherapy but almost none of it addresses the unique issues that a female clinician can face with a male client These women do not have a basis for a complete understanding of the impact our society's ideas about gender can have on a man his masculinity and his feelings toward talk therapy in part because they are not men themselves The contributors to this book all female clinicians who have worked extensively with men have set out to provide their female peers with a guide for therapeutically engaging and helping men Chapters explore how each author became involved in men's issues case studies and examples from her own practice that illustrate her approach and her own assessment of what works best with male clients Topics considered include core treatment issues such as transference and counter transference beginning and ending therapy with men and ethical dilemmas working in different therapy modalities and doing therapy with diverse populations of men The book concludes with an edited transcript of a discussion amongst the authors about their personal experiences working with male clients This will be an important book for all female therapists who work with male clients and are looking for ways to better understand and tailor their approaches to meet the needs of men in therapy The Psychology of Black Boys and Adolescents Kirkland C. Vaughans,Warren Spielberg,2014-06-30 Drawing on personal insights and research based knowledge this important work facilitates understanding of the psychological struggles of young African American males and offers ameliorative strategies Despite examples set by successful black men in all walks of life the truth remains that a disproportionate number of black boys and young men underperform at school suffer from PTSD and too often find themselves on a pathway to jail The two volume The Psychology of Black Boys and Adolescents marks the first attempt to catalog the many psychological influences that can stack the deck against black male children and to suggest interventions Bringing together an expansive collection of new and classic research from a wide variety of disciplines this set sheds light on the complex circumstances faced by young black men in the United States Contributions by authors Kirkland Vaughans and Warren Spielberg contain insights from the groundbreaking Brotherman study conducted over a ten year period to report on the lives and psychological challenges of over a hundred African American boys and their families Among the myriad issues studied in this set are the often negative expectations of society the influence of gangs and the impact of racism and poverty Of equal importance the work explores culturally specific ways to engage families youths communities and policymakers in the development of healthy safe educated boys who will become whole and successful adults Making Sense of the Father-Daughter Husband-Wife Connections
