Critical Mass Steven Ungar, 2018-08-21 Thirty five years of nonfiction films offer a unique lens on twentieth century French social issues Critical Mass is the first sustained study to trace the origins of social documentary filmmaking in France back to the late 1920s Steven Ungar argues that socially engaged nonfiction cinema produced in France between 1945 and 1963 can be seen as a delayed response to what filmmaker Jean Vigo referred to in 1930 as a social cinema whose documented point of view would open the eyes of spectators to provocative subjects of the moment Ungar identifies Vigo s manifesto his 1930 short propos de Nice and late silent era films by Georges Lacombe Boris Kaufman Andr Sauvage and Marcel Carn as antecedents of postwar documentaries by Eli Lotar Ren Vautier Alain Resnais Chris Marker and Jean Rouch associated with critiques of colonialism and modernization in Fourth and early Fifth Republic France Close readings of individual films alternate with transitions to address transnational practices as well as state and industry wide reforms between 1935 and 1960 Critical Mass is an indispensable complement to studies of nonfiction film in France from Georges Lacombe s La Zone 1928 to Chris Marker s Le Joli Mai 1963

understanding the mysteries of the universe in children and adults alike Beyond Liberal Egalitarianism Tony Smith, 2017-09-18

Progressive theorists and activists insist that contemporary capitalism is deeply flawed from a normative point of view. However, most accept the liberal egalitarian thesis that the serious shortcomings of market societies—financial excess, inequality, and so on—could be overcome with proper political regulation. Building on Marx's legacy, Tony Smith argues in Beyond Liberal Egalitarianism that advocates of this thesis—Rawls, Habermas, Stiglitz, et al.—lack an adequate concept of capital and the state. These theorists also fail to comprehend new developments in world history, ensuring that the destructive aspects of capitalism increasingly outweigh whatever creative elements it might continue to possess. Smith concludes that a normative social theory adequate to the twenty-first century must explicitly and unequivocally embrace socialism.
