

A young woman with dark curly hair tied in a ponytail, wearing a red long-sleeved shirt, is seen from the side, supporting an elderly man. The man has white hair and is wearing a light-colored sweater and a dark blue backpack. He is seated in a wheelchair, and the woman has her hand on his shoulder. They are outdoors, with a blurred background of trees with yellow and orange autumn leaves. A white rectangular box with a torn-edge effect is overlaid on the left side of the image, containing the text 'CARING FOR AGING PARENTS'.

It touches on dangerous older drivers, choosing home care workers and nursing homes, understanding assisted living, the specifics of handling money for aging parents, ways to manage sibling conflicts, about elders' advice from a lawyer about how to choose a lawyer when your parent needs one, and knowing how a care manager can help you. Aging Parents, Ambivalent Baby Boomers Jayne E. Maugans, 1994

Bringing critical theory to bear on questions of gerontology, Maugans corrects gerontology's traditional leanings. Aging Parents, Ambivalent Baby Boomers includes reflections on the society rather than just the individual and looks at qualitative as well as quantitative methods. Setting

Liu, 2000

This book comprises a collection of refereed and edited papers that originated from an invited conference on East-West values in elderly care held in Hong Kong in 1996. Organized under Western or Eastern perspectives, the contributions reflect the belief that knowledge in the caregiving field has reached a point where comparisons can shed useful insights into not only the differences between cultures but also between the perspectives of the scholars. Navigating the Journey of Aging Parents Cheryl A. Kuba, 2013-05-13

Navigating the Journey of Aging Parents proposes an entirely unique approach to the field of gerontology, giving dependent care receivers a voice. Caregivers will be made aware of what care receivers truly want during life's final chapters. Exploring issues of housing, spirituality, personal care, and death, Cheryl Kuba has created a testament to the dependent elderly. This book draws on numerous interviews with aging people and discusses common caregiver mistakes and interpretations of what a caregiver should expect when an aging parent moves in and how to care for an aging parent from afar.
