Agribusiness, 1980's and 1990's Perspective Mary E. Lassanyi,1991 Agribusiness in the 1980's, 1979-1987 Mary E. Lassanyi,1988 Strengthening farmagribusiness linkages in Africa. Summary results of five country studies in Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, Uganda and South Africa Alexandra Rottger,2004 The Changing Scale of American Agriculture John Fraser Hart,2003 Few Americans know much about contemporary farming which has evolved dramatically over the past few decades In The Changing Scale of American Agriculture the award winning geographer and landscape historian John Fraser Hart describes the transformation of farming from the mid twentieth century when small family farms were still viable to the present when a farm must sell at least 250 000 of farm products each year to provide an acceptable level of living for a family The increased scale of agriculture has outmoded the Jeffersonian ideal of small self sufficient farms

In the past farmers kept a variety of livestock and grew several crops but modern family farms have become highly specialized in producing a single type of livestock or one or two crops As farms have become larger and more specialized their number has declined Hart contends that modern family farms need to become integrated into tightly orchestrated food supply chains in order to thrive and these complex new organizations of large scale production require managerial skills of the highest order According to Hart this trend is not only inevitable but it is beneficial because it produces the food American consumers want to buy at prices they can afford Although Hart provides the statistics and clear analysis such a study requires his book focuses on interviews with farmers those who have shifted from mixed crop and livestock farming to cash grain farming in the Midwest agricultural heartland beef dairy chicken egg turkey and hog producers around the periphery of the heartland and specialty crop producers on the East and West Coasts These invaluable case studies bring the reader into direct personal contact with the entrepreneurs who are changing American agriculture Hart believes that modern large scale farmers have been criticized unfairly and The Changing Scale of American Agriculture the result of decades of research is his attempt to tell their side of the story

Growth and Productivity in Agriculture and Agribusiness, 2011 The report assesses the World Bank Group's support for growth and productivity in the agriculture sector Enhancing agricultural growth and productivity is essential to meeting the worldwide demand for food and to reducing poverty particularly in the poorest developing countries Between 1998 and 2008 the period covered by this evaluation the World Bank Group WBG provided 23.7 billion in financing for agriculture and agribusiness in 108 countries roughly 8 percent of total WBG financing spanning areas from irrigation and marketing to research and extension However this was a time of declining focus on agricultural growth and productivity by both countries and donors The cost of inadequate attention to agriculture especially in agriculture based economies came into focus with the food crisis of 2007-08 The crisis added momentum to an emerging renewal of attention and stepped up financing to agriculture and agribusiness at the World Bank and International Finance Corporation IFC as well as at several multilateral and bilateral agencies World Bank financing rose two and a half times from 2008 to 2009 though that increase in lending seems to have been accompanied by a decline in analytical work which this review finds valuable for results This evaluation seeks to provide lessons from successes and failures to help improve the development impact of the renewed attention to the sector Ratings against the World Bank's stated objectives and IFC's market based benchmarks for agriculture and agribusiness projects have been equal to or above portfolio averages in East Asia Latin America and the transition economies in Europe with notable successes over a long period in China and India But performance of WBG interventions has been well below average in Sub Saharan Africa where IFC has had little engagement in agribusiness Inconsistent client commitment and weak capacity have limited the effectiveness of WBG support in agriculture based economies particularly in Sub Saharan Africa and constraints on staffing and internal coordination within the WBG have also hurt outcomes Financial sustainability has been constrained by insufficient government funding and the difficulty of maintaining agricultural services and infrastructure The WBG has a unique opportunity to match the increases in the financing for agriculture with sharper focus on improving agricultural growth and productivity in agriculture based economies notably in Sub Saharan Africa Greater effort will be needed to connect sectoral interventions and achieve synergies from public and private sector interventions to build capacity and knowledge exchange to take stock of experience in rain fed agriculture to ensure attention to financial sustainability and to cross cutting issues of gender environmental and social impacts and climate and to better integrate WBG support at the global and regional levels with that at the country level

Political Ecology of Agriculture Omar Felipe Giraldo, 2019-02-28 This study discusses an original proposal aimed at critically analyzing the power relations that exist in contemporary agriculture The author endeavors herein to clarify some of the strategies that industrial agribusiness in collusion with the state and multilateral structures sets in motion in order to functionalize the lives of millions of farmers so that their bodies enunciations and sensibilities can be repurposed in accordance with the dynamics of capital accumulation The argument is based on the idea that agro extractivism cannot be thought of exclusively as an economic political and technological system but as a complex interweaving of cultural meanings aesthetics and affections which amalgamated under the abstract name of development act as a support for the whole system s scaffolding The book also explores the other side of the coin describing how and under what conditions social movements are responding to the calamities generated by this model The central thesis is that many ongoing agroecological processes are providing one of the most interesting guidelines at present for visualizing transitions towards post development post extractivism and the construction of multiple worlds beyond the sphere of capital Political ecology of agriculture joins the calls that question the cultural project of modernity and the predatory sense imposed by the globalized food empire and invites recognition of the importance of agroecology in the context of the end of the fossil fuel era and the likely collapse of our industry based civilization
