House of Commons - Committee of Public Accounts: Police Procurement - HC 115 Great Britain: Parliament:

House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2013-09-17 Police forces pay widely varying prices for very similar items which means money is being wasted The price paid for such basic items as standard issue boots can vary from 25 to 114 or 14 to 43 for handcuffs This is even the case where items are identical It cannot be right that prices paid for the same type of high visibility jacket varied by as much as 33% With central funding being cut police forces must ensure they get best value for money from procurement so that they can focus resources on fighting crime Forces can make big savings through bulk buying of items but have been unable to agree on the most simple things like how many pockets they should have on their uniforms The Department cannot persuade enough individual forces to cooperate with its attempts to introduce more centralised procurement in part because forces are sceptical about the commercial competence of procurement officers working at the centre National contracts with suppliers are not used by enough forces and do not cover many basic goods and services Forces use of the new online police procurement hub is also woefully below the Home Office's expectations By 2013 a miniscule 2% of items were being bought through this central hub against a target of 80% by the end of this Parliament Police and Crime Commissioners have authority over local spending but as the Department remains accountable for public money voted by Parliament it cannot step back from value for money issues Validating Technological

House of Commons - Communities and Local Government Committee: Community Budgets - HC 163

Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Communities and Local Government Committee, 2013-10-23 Community Budgets are demonstrating their potential to deliver cheaper more integrated and more effective public services They are at risk however of being replaced after a few years if key issues are not resolved If this opportunity is missed the Committee warns that local services could come under unsustainable pressure in the face of increased demand and reduced budgets This in turn may result in more spending later on judicial and emergency health and welfare interventions The Government should send a clear message that it will assist every local authority wishing to introduce Community Budgets and to set out the specific assistance it will provide them with Furthermore the programme of pilots must not be allowed to slow progress towards wider implementation If they are to succeed public service providers and local authorities must realise investment in Community Budgets will bring them benefits Local authorities their partners and central government should therefore develop a framework for agreements on how the benefits of investment are to be shared On the Troubled Families Programme the Committee is supportive of the work being done but highlights the need for greater focus on how work with these families will continue after the programme ends in 2016 Noting that the resources available have not increased in proportion to the number of families added to the programme in June DCLG needs to monitor carefully progress and provide more resources to local authorities if necessary
