architecture within the strictures of contemporary economies grounded on the fundamental definition of economy as the well managed household derived from the Greek oikonomia oikos house and nemein manage The diverse enquiries of the study are structured around the following key questions How do we define our economies How are the values of architecture negotiated among the various actors involved How do we manage the production of a good architecture within any particular system How does political economy frame and influence architecture The majority of examples are taken from current or recent architectural practice historical examples which include John Evelyn's villa Blenheim Palace John Ruskin's Venice and early twentieth century Paris place the debates within an extended critical perspective

Architecture as a Global System Peter Raisbeck, 2019-11-08 This book provides a clear sighted analysis which suggests that architectural design may yet shape and order the future of cities A clear argument that emerges is that to retain their future agency architects must understand the contours and ecologies of practice that constitute the global system of architectural production
