Arguing Deal With It Word By Word:

Arguments and Agreement Peter Ackema, 2006-09-28 This book explores the role of agreement morphology in the morphosyntactic realization of a verb's arguments. It examines the differences and parallels between configurational and nonconfigurational languages: languages that allow pronoun drop only in particular constructions and languages which always require overt syntactic determiner phrases as arguments. These and related issues are explored in the context of a wide range of languages. The book will interest linguists at graduate level and above concerned with morphosyntactic theory, typology and the interactions of syntax and morphology in different languages.

Mermaid Construction Tasaku Tsunoda, 2020-08-10 This volume provides detailed studies of the crosslinguistically unusual mermaid construction in seventeen languages of Asia including Modern Standard Japanese and one language of Africa. This construction appears to be absent in languages of Europe, Oceania and the Americas. The name mermaid construction alludes to its paradoxical make-up where the structure closely resembling a verb predicate clause ends with what may look like a noun predicate clause. Superficially it looks biclausal; however syntactically it is monoclausal. It has a compound predicate which contains an independent noun, a clitic or an affix derived from a noun or a nominalizer. Its compound predicate has a modal evidential aspectual temporal stylistic or discourse related meaning. The paradox is resolved from a diachronic perspective insofar as a biclausal structure is reanalyzed as a monoclausal one. This volume shows how a noun may be reanalyzed to become a constituent of a predicate. It constitutes an important contribution to research on grammaticalization and in particular the grammaticalization of nouns and more generally to the typology of syntactic reanalysis.

Local Theories of Argument Dale Hample, 2021-03-25 Argumentation is often understood as a coherent set of Western theories birthed in Athens and developing throughout the Roman period, the Middle Ages, the Enlightenment and Renaissance and into the present century. Ideas have been nuanced, developed and revised but still the outline of argumentation theory has been recognizable for centuries or so it has seemed to Western scholars. The 2019 Alta Conference on Argumentation, co-sponsored by the National Communication Association and the American Forensic Association, aimed to question the generality of these intellectual traditions. This resulting collection of essays deals with the possibility of having local theories of argument local to a particular time, a particular kind of issue, a particular place or a particular culture. Many of the papers argue for reconsidering basic ideas about arguing to represent the uniqueness of some moment or location of discourse. Other scholars are more comfortable with the Western traditions and find them congenial to the analysis of arguments that originate in discernibly distinct circumstances The papers represent different methodologies cover the experiences of different nations at different times examine varying sorts of argumentative events speeches court decisions food choices and sound explore particular personal identities and the issues highlighted by them and have different overall orientations to doing argumentation scholarship Considered together the essays do not generate one simple conclusion but they stimulate reflection about the particularity or generality of the experience of arguing and therefore the scope of our theories Plain-Dealing, and its vindication, defended against a certain pamphlet, entitled, The Church of England vindicated, and separation from her communion shew'd to be causeless and schismatical; by an anonymous Clergyman [Charles Owen].

Cross-Linguistic Studies of Imposters and Pronominal Agreement

Chris Collins,2014-03-04 Imposters are third person DPs that are used to refer to the speaker writer or addressee such as i Your humble servant finds the time before our next encounter very long ii This reporter thinks that the current developments are extraordinary iii Daddy will be back before too long iv The present author finds the logic of the reply faulty This volume explores verbal and pronominal agreement with imposters from a cross linguistic perspective The central questions for any given language are a How do singular and plural imposters agree with the verb b When a pronoun has an imposter antecedent what are the phi features of the pronoun The volume reveals a remarkable degree of variation in the answers to these questions but also reveals some underlying generalizations The contributions describe imposters in Bangla Spanish Albanian Indonesian Italian French Romanian Mandarin and Icelandic

Structuring the Argument Asaf Bachrach,Isabelle Roy,Linnaea Stockall,2014-07-24 While the argument structure of verbs has long been a central issue in linguistic research of all varieties and continues to be a vexed area of research across a wide range of theoretical and empirical approaches the inter disciplinary perspective and dialogue remain largely under explored This collection stems from an interest to find and explore practical tangible points of intersection between theoretical linguists psycholinguists and neurolinguists working on problems related to the representation and processing of verbs and their associated thematic structure The book is organized around three core themes i the basic building blocks of verbal representations and modes of construction of the verb argument complex ii non canonical argument structure realization with a particular focus on object experiencer psych verbs and iii the promises and challenges of neurolinguistic and psycholinguistic investigation into argument structure and the prospects for the future of interdisciplinary research on verb argument structure Argument for the divarication of the
