Coordination And Communication Using Signs Studies In Organisational Semiotics:

Coordination and Communication Using Signs Kecheng Liu, Rodney J. Clarke, Peter Bøgh Andersen, Ronald K. Stamper, 2012-12-06 Coordination And Communication Using Signs Studies in Organisational Semiotics is a cutting edge volume that bridges the gap between the technical and social aspects of information systems and information technology The chapters in the book are divided into two major sections The first section deals with Communication and Pragmatics and Organisational Systems and the following topics are examined the semiotic framework and natural language coordination and communication using natural language and other artifacts in a real life setting substantive level issues of information systems and business processes from several theoretical perspectives language as action communication quality in the context of systems and business processes organisational action and Greimas semiotics Section Two concentrates on organisational systems which may or may not include a computer system as a component and examines the following topics semiotic strategies and semiotic models of organisational structures the impact of information technology with instructive case studies the impact of information technology with a particular focus on sense making in the work floor context the design of computer information systems improving the design quality of agent based information systems the design of information systems in terms of capacity and data scheme All the chapters in the volume have been submitted to a review process of discussants and peer reviews

Organizational Semiotics Kecheng Liu, Rodney J. Clarke, Peter Bøgh Andersen, Ronald K. Stamper, El-Sayed Abou-Zeid, 2013-03-19 Organizational Semiotics Evolving a Science of Information Systems covers such issues as Fundamental concepts such as information data message communication knowledge organization system and so on Properties of signs vital to organizational functioning such as their meanings the intentions they express and the valuable social consequences they produce Architecture of organizations when they are viewed as information systems based on their semiotics features Understanding language in organizational contexts for example the limitations on the language used to conduct business affairs The empirical study of communications for requirements elicitation Applying semiotic categories e g physical empiric syntactic semantic pragmatic social to various problems Organizational knowledge representation Business process re engineering methods and the design of e commerce systems

Designing Stress Resistant Organizations Zhiang (John) Lin, Kathleen M. Carley, 2013-03-09 Designing Stress Resistant Organizations demonstrates in a persuasive way how computational organization theory can be applied to advance the field of management with its successful integration of theory and practice At the theoretical level the book contains a comprehensive computational framework called DYCORP which simulates dynamic and interactive organizational behaviors by incorporating multiple factors such as organizational design task environment and stress and which generates consistent and insightful propositions on organizational performance The book utilizes an organization science based approach to computational modeling This approach recognizes the limit of human cognition as it was outlined by Herbert A Simon in 1947 The model strives to focus on the essence of the reality that is most relevant to the research issue This approach has been proven to be more beneficial for us to understand the underlying dynamics of the phenomenon Discursivity, Relationality and Materiality in the Life of the Organisation Colleen E. Mills, Francois Cooren, 2019-10-23 The field of organisational communication has been rapidly transforming in the wake of the linguistic and discursive turns that have been sweeping across the social sciences since the mid eighties These turns have prompted organisational communication scholars to look more closely at how they think about communication and its relationship to the organisation and the process of organizing What has emerged from these reflections is a perspective that proposes communication is not merely something that happens in organisations but is the heart of organizing and therefore actually constitutes the organisation This perspective which embraces several sub threads is now commonly referred to as the CCO Communication as Constitutive of Organisation perspective This is itself evolving as scholars come to realize that organizing does not just occur at the discursive level It is inextricably coupled to the material and relational aspects of work the discourse mutually constitutes relationships between human and non human bodies that combine to create what we encounter when we participate in organisational life This book examines the way these three dimensions combine to create organisational outcomes In doing so it advances CCO and sociomateriality scholarship and contributes to new ways of thinking about strategy and practice The series of empirical studies should interest the widely interdisciplinary audience that seeks to understand work organizing and management This book was originally published as a special issue of the Communication Research and Practice journal Argumentation in Political Deliberation Marcin Lewiński, Dima Mohammed, 2015-07-15 The goal of this volume is to further the examination of the role shape and quality of argumentation in political deliberation The chapters collected in the volume employ the concepts and methods developed within argumentation theory to investigate the specifics of political discourse across various deliberative arenas from debates in the European Parliament consensus conferences and public hearings in France discussions in Dutch online forums to exchanges of comments in online versions of British newspapers In this way the studies reveal the inner workings of argumentative interactions that constitute deliberative discourse and thus importantly contribute to the study of public deliberation This should be of interest to the students of argumentation deliberation and political discourse In addition the volume problematizes and theorizes some vital issues related to the study of situated argumentation thus advancing the study of argumentation in context Originally published in Journal of Argumentation in Context Vol 2 1 2013 ECPPM 2021 - eWork and eBusiness in Architecture, Engineering and Construction Vitaly Semenov, Raimar J Scherer, 2021-07-25 eWork and eBusiness in Architecture Engineering and Construction 2021 collects the papers presented at the 13th European Conference on Product and Process Modelling ECPPM 2021 Moscow 5 7 May 2021 The contributions cover a wide spectrum of thematic areas that hold great promise towards the advancement of research and technological development targeted at the digitalization of the AEC FM

Issues and Trends in Technology and Human Interaction Stahl, Bernd Carsten, 2006-10-31 Issues and Trends in Technology and Human Interaction consists of research in the areas of e commerce through law and culture intellectual capital in knowledge management and the philosophy of technology among other topics This book also investigates the interaction of technology and humans from a variety of viewpoints and presents technology assessment of software hardware development interaction and conversion between technologies and their impact on society and phenomenology of e government

Message and Medium Caroline Tagg, Mel Evans, 2020-06-08 Studies of digital communication technologies often focus on the apparently unique set of multimodal resources afforded to users and the development of innovative linguistic strategies for performing mediatised identities and maintaining online social networks This edited volume interrogates the novelty of such practices by establishing a transhistorical approach to the study of digital communication The transhistorical approach explores language practices as lived experiences grounded in historical contexts and aims to identify those elements of human behaviour that transcend historical boundaries looking beyond specific developments in communication technologies to understand the enduring motivations and social concerns that drive human communication The volume reveals long term patterns in the indexical functions of seemingly innovative written and multimodal resources and the ideologies that underpin them and shows that methods are not necessarily contingent on their datasets historical analytic frameworks can be applied to digital data and newer approaches used to understand historical data These insights present exciting opportunities for English language researchers both historical and modern

Organizational Discourse Francois Cooren, 2015-01-06 How can we study organizations from a discursive perspective What are the characteristics strengths and weaknesses of each perspective on organizational discourse To what extent do discourse and communication constitute the organizational world This accessible book addresses these questions by showing how classical organizational themes objects and questions can be illuminated from various discursive perspectives Six approaches are presented and explained semiotics rhetoric speech act theory conversation analysis ethnomethodology narrative analysis and critical discourse analysis These six perspectives are then mobilized throughout the book to study coordination and organizing organizational culture and identity as well as negotiation decision making and conflicts in the context of meetings The unifying thread of this volume is the communicative constitutive approach CCO to organizations as implicitly or explicitly advocated by the great majority of organizational discourse analysts and theorists today Throughout Organizational Discourse this theme will help readers distinguish between discursive perspectives and other approaches to organizational life and to understand how discourse matters in organizations

The Semiotics of Information Systems John

Mingers, Leslie P. Willcocks, 2023-08-29 The central concepts of information meaning embodied cognition and semiotics are hugely relevant to contemporary organisations and personal and social lives However these concepts are not well understood and are frequently under represented misrepresented and their importance seriously underplayed in the study of management This is particularly noticeable in the study of the information systems and digital technologies that underpin so much of business operations personal and social life organisation communication and management today This book seeks to fill the obvious gap It provides detailed understanding of fundamental concepts and develops a useable integrative semiotics framework The framework is grounded in rich social theory and philosophy and as the book demonstrates provides a valuable exploratory and explanatory framework for researchers This takes shape as a 12 step research process that has the general features of most research methodologies but also provides distinctive rich resources for in depth research into semiotically related phenomena It will be of great interest to academics undertaking research in digital technologies and business model innovation as well as scholars of research methodology organisation studies HRM marketing and information systems

Information Systems Development Marite Kirikova, Janis Grundspenkis, Wita Wojtkowski, W. Gregory

Wojtkowski, Stanislaw Wrycza, Jozse Zupancic, 2012-12-06 This book is the result of the 11 th International Conference on Information Systems Development Methods and Tools Theory and Practice held in Riga Latvia September 12 14 2002 The purpose of this conference was to address issues facing academia and industry when specifying developing managing reengineering and improving information systems Recently many new concepts and approaches have emerged in the Information Systems Development ISD field Various theories methodologies methods and tools available to system developers also created new problems such as choosing the most effective approach for a specific task or solving problems of advanced technology integration into information systems This conference provides a meeting place for ISD researchers and practitioners from Eastern and Western Europe as well as from other parts of the world Main objectives of this conference are to share scientific knowledge and interests and to establish strong professional ties among the participants The 11th International Conference on Information Systems Development ISD 02 continues the tradition started with the first Polish Scandinavian Seminar on Current Trends in Information Systems Development Methodologies held in Gdansk Poland in 1988

Through the years this Seminar has evolved into the International Conference on Information Systems Development ISD 02 is the first ISD conference held in Eastern Europe namely in Latvia one of the three Baltic countries

Enterprise Information Systems VI Isabel Seruca, José Cordeiro, Slimane Hammoudi, Joaquim Filipe, 2006-07-08 This book contains the best papers of the Sixth International Conference on Enterprise Information Systems ICEIS 2004 held in Porto Portugal and organized by INSTICC Institute for Systems and Technologies of Information Communication and Control in collaboration with PORTUGALENSE UNIVERSITY who hosted the event Following the route started in 1999 ICEIS has become a major point of contact between research scientists engineers and practitioners on the area of business applications of information systems This conference has received an increased interest every year from especially from the international academic community and it is now one of the world largest conferences in its area This year five simultaneous tracks were held covering different aspects related to enterprise computing including Databases and Information Systems Integration Artificial Intelligence and Decision Support Systems Information Systems Analysis and Specification Software Agents and Internet Computing and Human Computer Interaction The sections of this book reflect the conference tracks

Dynamics and Change in Organizations H.W. Gazendam, René Jorna, R.S. Cijssouw, 2012-12-06 Organizational Semiotics occupies an important niche in the research community of human communication and information systems It opens up new ways of understanding the functioning of information and information resources in organised behaviour In recent years a number of workshops and conferences have provided researchers and practitioners opportunities to discuss their theories methods and practices and to assess the benefits and potential of this approach Literature in this field is much in demand but still difficult to find so we are pleased to offer a third volume in the miniseries of Studies in Organizational Semiotics This book is based on the papers and discussions of the fifth workshop on Organizational Semiotics held in Delft June 13 15 2002 hosted by Groningen University and Delft Technical University in the Netherlands The topic of this workshop was the dynamics and change in organizations The chapters in this book reflect recent developments in theory and applications and demonstrate the significance of Organizational Semiotics to information systems human communication and coordination organizational analysis and modelling In particular it provides a framework that accommodates both the technical and social aspects of information systems The mini series presents the frontier of the research in this area and shows how the theory and techniques enhance the quality of work on information systems

Human Work Interaction Design. Work Analysis and HCI Pedro Campos, Torkil Clemmensen, José Abdelnour Nocera, Dinesh Katre, Arminda Lopes, Rikke Ørngreen, 2013-12-12 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post conference proceedings of the Third IFIP WG 13.6 Working Conference on Human Work Interaction Design HWID 2012 held in Copenhagen Denmark in December 2012 The 16 revised papers presented were carefully selected for inclusion in this volume The papers reflect many different areas and address many complex and diverse work domains ranging from medical user interfaces work and speech interactions at elderly care facilities greenhouse climate control

Action and Agency in Dialogue François Cooren,2010-06-11 What happens when people communicate or dialogue with each other This is the daunting question that this book proposes to address by starting from a controversial hypothesis What if human interactants were not the only ones to be considered paraphrasing Austin 1962 as doing things with words That is what if other things could also be granted the status of agents in a dialogical situation Action and Agency in Dialogue Passion incarnation and ventriloquism proposes to explore this unique hypothesis by mobilizing metaphorically the notion of ventriloquism According to this ventriloqual perspective interactions are never purely local but dislocal that is they constantly mobilize figures collectives principles values emotions etc that incarnate themselves in people s discussions This highly original book which develops the analytical practical and ethical dimensions of such a theoretical positioning may be of interest to communication scholars linguists sociologists conversation analysts management and organizational scholars as well as philosophers interested in language action and ethics

Communication as Organizing

Francois Cooren, James R. Taylor, Elizabeth J. Van Every, 2013-09-13 Communication as Organizing unites multiple reflections on the role of language under a single rubric the organizing role of communication Stemming from Jim Taylor's earlier work The Emergent Organization Communication as Its Site and Surface LEA 2000 the volume editors present a communicational answer to the question what is an organization through contributions from an international set of scholars and researchers The chapter authors synthesize various lines of research on constituting organizations through communication describing their explorations of the relation between language human practice and the constitution of organizational forms Each chapter develops a dimension of the central theme showing how such concepts as agency identity sensemaking narrative and account may be put to work in discursive analysis to develop effective research into organizing processes The contributions employ concrete examples to show how the theoretical concepts can be employed to develop effective research This distinctive volume encourages readers to discover and develop a truly communicational means of addressing the question of organization addressing how organization itself emerges in the course of communicational transactions In presenting a single and entirely communicational perspective for exploring organizational phenomena grounded in the discourse of communicational transactions and the establishment of relationships through language it is required reading for scholars researchers and graduate students working in organizational communication management social psychology pragmatics of language and organizational studies Project Management and Risk Management in Complex Projects Pierre-Jean Charrel, Daniel Galarreta, 2007-03-21 Organizational semiotics offers a framework for understanding the processes that this project work entails in particular the interaction between individuals and groups and between human and technology The 8th session of the annual Organizational Semiotics Workshop held in June 2005 in Toulouse the French capital of aeronautics and space tested ideas from Organizational Semiotics against two issues from space projects on two illustrative cases provided by the Centre National d'Etudes Spatiales CNES the government agency responsible for shaping and implementing France's space policy in Europe through its Technical Competency Centre in Management CCT MAN The management of complex highly innovative and multidisciplinary projects during their early volatile phases The management of risks faced by such projects that may run far into the future and beyond human intervention The twelve chapters of the book are the revised contributions of the workshop to these issues along with general themes of Organizational Semiotics Human Computer Interaction: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Ang, Chee Siang, Zaphiris, Panayiotis, 2008-10-31 Penetrates the human computer interaction HCI field with breadth and depth of comprehensive research Advancing Information Systems Theories, Volume II Leslie P. Willcocks, Nik R. Hassan, Suzanne Rivard, 2023-10-14 Information systems research IS is an exciting multidisciplinary area that links the rapidly changing technology of information or communications and information technology ICT to the business and social environment Lately the discourse surrounding information and systems has leaped into the consciousness of the public in unprecedented ways through the rise of social media the Internet of Things

IoT fake news and the weaponization of information to name a few Unfortunately it has been felt that these developments are overtaking the ability of the IS field to address them in part because the field itself lacks its own native theories It is well known that the IS field undertakes its research using theories from its reference disciplines such as management social psychology economics communication and computer science but what this book offers is a clarification and implementation of the discipline s own foundational theory This book is the companion volume to Advancing Information Systems Theories Volume I and part of a three part series that aims to advance IS research This volume addresses the products of information systems theories examining design principles information practice principles for robotics and other concepts integral to developing theory The book will be of interest to academics studying information systems Big Data digital business information technology innovation management and digital management
