Koreo-Japonica Alexander Vovin, 2009-11-02 The Japonic Japanese and Ryukyuan portmanteau language family and the Korean language have long been considered isolates on the fringe of northeast Asia Although in the last fifty years many specialists in Japonic and Korean historical linguistics have voiced their support for a genetic relationship between the two this concept has not been endorsed by general historical linguists and no significant attempts have been made to advance beyond the status quo Alexander Vovin a longtime advocate of the genetic relationship view engaged in a reanalysis of the known data in the hope of finding evidence in support of this position In the process of his work however he became convinced that the multiple similarities between Japonic and Korean are the result of several centuries of contact and do not descend from a hypothetical common ancestor In Koreo Japonica Vovin carefully reviews recent advances in the reconstruction of both language families His detailed analysis of most of the morphological and lexical comparisons offered so far shows that whenever the proposed comparisons are not due to pure chance they can almost always be explained as borrowings from Korean into a central group of Japanese dialects from roughly between the third and eighth centuries A D The remaining group of lexical but not morphological comparisons that cannot be explained in this way is he argues too small to serve as proof of even a distant genetic relationship In this volume a leading historical linguist presents a significant challenge to a view widely held by Japonic and Korean historical linguistics on the relationship between the two language families and offers material support for the skepticism long espoused by general historical linguists on the matter His findings will both challenge and illuminate issues of interest to all linguists working with language contact and typology as well as those concerned with the prehistory and early history of East Asia

Trabant Trek Dan Murdoch, 2011-06-07 Cambodia is a long way from Germany thousands of miles as it turns out And in between are some of the world's highest mountains most inhospitable deserts and least welcoming countries Trying to make the journey overland was always going to be difficult But one group of twenty somethings bored with the predictable wanderings of the backpacker generation thought they'd spice things up a little They would go by car The worst car in the world The infamous Soviet era Trabant This would be no whimsical meander across the globe but a mission with a cause to raise money for the Cambodian children they had met on previous visits to the country From their base in Central Europe east through Turkey and the gateway to Asia then into the Caucasus the five men and three women ferried across the Caspian Sea and into the forgotten world of Central Asia the police state of Turkmenistan the beautiful Silk Road cities of Uzbekistan the stunning mountain passes of Tajikistan and Kyrgyzstan and the endless flat of the Kazakh steppe They took on Russia's freezing Siberian winter and Mongolia's icy plains crossed booming China before hitting the sun speckled hills of Laos and the jungles of Cambodia This book based on the explosive blog from award winning travel writer and journalist Dan Murdoch tells the inside story of the Trabant Trek and how a group of near strangers coped with the challenge of their lives Ten percent of the royalties will be donated to the Trabant Trek charities
