Contesting The Master Narrative:

Contesting the Master Narrative Jeffrey Cox, Shelton Stromquist, 1998 Social historians today are calling into question the persuasiveness of the master narratives that have dominated our stories about the past. Motivated now by personal and professional commitments to solving problems by telling stories not by epistemological and ontological certitude, social historians are constructing alternative narratives relevant to an expanded, more inclusive audience. The essays in this thoughtful volume reflect an explicit self-consciousness about historians' choices of narrative strategies, a new skepticism of the rhetorical strategies embedded in all scholarly arguments, and a recognition that every historian has a point of view. Critically examining past master narratives in light of emerging alternatives, these essayists ask us to reevaluate the stories we tell, the narrative traditions within which they are situated, and the audiences they are designed to persuade. The first essays explore the gendered character of social history rhetoric by exposing alternative feminist traditions of social scientific and social historical writing. The second section focuses on alternative narrative traditions of historical writing in non-European contexts, specifically India, Japan, and China. And the third group spotlights the rhetorical uses of synthesis in the writings of social historians. The essays feature the range of narrative possibilities available to historians who have become self-critical about the pervasive use of unexamined master narratives; they show how limited that tradition can be compared with the diverse alternatives derived from, for example, gendered traditions of Latin American travel writers of the nineteenth century, Victorian women's historical writing, or the lively subaltern tradition in Indian social history. Together they argue not for the abandonment of historical materialism or the elimination of all master narratives, but for the reinvigoration of social history through the use of new and more persuasive arguments based on alternative narratives. Women Voicing Resistance Suzanne McKenzie-Mohr, Michelle N. LaFrance, 2014-03-26 Feminist scholars have demonstrated how dominant discourses and master narratives frequently reflect patriarchal influence, thereby distorting and depoliticizing women's storying of their own lives. In this groundbreaking volume, a number of internationally recognized researchers working across a range of disciplines provide a detailed examination of women's attempts to counter-story their lives when prevailing discourses are unhelpful or indeed harmful. As such, it is an exploration of women's agency and resistance which highlights the challenges and complexities of such discursive work. The chapters explore women's resistance across a wide range of experiences, including intimate partner violence, casual sex, depression, premenstrual change, disordered eating, lesbian identity, women's work in male-dominated spaces, rape, and child birth. Each chapter combines theoretical analyses with illuminating first-hand accounts and elaborates practical implications that provide directions for individual and social change. Providing an incisive and comprehensive exploration of discourse, oppression, and resistance that cuts across domains of women's everyday lives, Women Voicing Resistance will be of great interest to students, scholars, and practitioners in the fields of psychology, gender studies, women's studies, sociology, and social work. Contesting the Subject William H.

Epstein,1991 Stanley Fish opens the collection with a persuasive argument for the role of intention and biography Michael McKeon Gordon Turnbull and Jerome Christensen are concerned with the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century English cultural discourse that gave rise to the nearly simultaneous emergence of literary biography Romantic sensibility and reflexive human consciousness The essays by Alison Booth Cheryl Walker and Sharon O'Brien reveal that the recognition or lack thereof the biographical subject has received and remains both a problem and an opportunity for women writers and readers The essays by Valerie Ross Rob Wilson Steven Weiland and William Epstein pursue the question of difference and cultural reification in the theory and practice of a specifically American biography and biographical criticism

Contesting the Monument: The Anti-illusionist Italian Historical Novel: No. 10 Ruth Glynn,2017-12-02 In the second half of the twentieth century the Italian historical novel provided an unrivalled number of best sellers and publishing phenomena The success of the genre is closely related to a more general interest in revisiting the past in the light of a changed understanding of the nature or philosophy of history This study aims to explore the particularly marked increase in the production and popularity of the historical novel in the period between the mid 1960s and the early 1990s with reference to current debates on the nature of history It presents a theoretical framework which establishes the centrality of philosophy of history to the development of the genre The employment of this framework opens out the discussion of literary change to the consideration of historiographical developments and wider critical debate The theoretical insights gained inform the close textual analysis provided in the chapters dealing with novels written by five of Italy's foremost contemporary writers Leonardo Sciascia Vincenzo Consolo Sebastiano Vassalli Umberto Eco and Luigi Malerba

Considering Counter Narratives Michael G. W. Bamberg,Molly Andrews,2004-01-01 Counter narratives only make sense in relation to something else that which they are countering The very name identifies it as a positional category in tension with another category But what is dominant and what is resistant are not of course static questions but rather are forever shifting placements The discussion of counter narratives is ultimately a consideration of multiple layers of positioning The fluidity of these relational categories is what lies at the center of the chapters and commentaries collected in this book The book comprises six target chapters by leading scholars in the field Twenty two commentators discuss these chapters from a number of diverse vantage points followed by responses from the six original authors A final chapter by the editor of the book series concludes the book

Contesting Islamophobia Peter Morey,Amina Yaqin,Alaya Forte,2019-05-30 Islamophobia is one of the most prevalent forms of prejudice in the world today This timely book reveals the way in which Islamophobia's pervasive power is being met with responses that challenge it and the worldview on which it rests The volume breaks new ground by outlining the characteristics of contemporary Islamophobia across a range of political historic and cultural public debates in Europe and the United States Chapters examine issues such as how anti Muslim prejudice facilitates questionable foreign and domestic policies of Western governments the tangible presence of anti Muslim bias in media and the arts including a critique of the global blockbuster fantasy series Game of Thrones youth activism in response to securitised Islamophobia in education and activist forms of Muslim self fashioning including Islamic feminism visual art and comic strip superheroes in popular culture and new media Drawing on contributions from experts in history sociology and literature the book brings together interdisciplinary perspectives from culture and the arts as well as political and policy reflections It argues for an inclusive cultural dialogue through which misrepresentation and institutionalised Islamophobia can be challenged

Contested Spaces, Counter-narratives, and Culture from Below in Canada and Québec Roxanne Rimstead, Domenic A. Beneventi, 2019-03-14 Contested Spaces Counter narratives and Culture from Below in Canada and Québec explores strategies for reading space and conflict in Canadian and Québecois literature and cultural performances positing questions such as how do these texts and performances produce and contest spatial practices What are the roles of the nation city community and individual subject in reproducing space particularly in times of global hegemony and neocolonialism And in what ways do marginalized individuals and communities represent contest or appropriate spaces through counter narratives and expressions of culture from below Focusing on discord rather than harmony and consensus this collection disturbs the idealized space of Canadian multicultural pluralism to carry literary analysis and cultural studies into spaces often undetected and unforeseen including flophouses and slums shantytowns and urban alleyways underground spaces and peep shows and inner city urban parks as they are experienced by minorities and other marginalized groups These essays are the products of sustained high level collaboration across French and English academic communities in Canada to facilitate theoretical exchange on the topic of space and contestation uncover geographies of exclusion and generate new spaces of hope in the spirit of pioneering works by Henri Lefebvre Michel Foucault Michel de Certeau Doreen Massey David Harvey and other prominent theorists of space

Media Inequality Victoria Fielding, 2024-09-04 News media notionally underpins a vibrant and diverse democracy by representing political industrial and social conflict to mass audiences Yet few studies measure how equitably journalists frame public contestation Despite framing theory's extensive use in media and communication scholarship little is known about how frames are created and disseminated how frames are built to explain how and why journalists frame news the way they do Media Inequality proposes that frame building occurs through a two step process of frame adoption and replication This two step frame building process is explored by identifying the newspaper master narratives used in five historical industrial dispute case studies These master narratives are then mapped to public narratives used by unionised firefighters and their employer in the Australian case of the 2016 Victorian Country Fire Authority industrial dispute By theorising about the causes of journalists inequitable framing of contested narratives Media Inequality tells the story of unconscious structural media bias interrogates the power of news media to reinforce dominant frames offers valuable theoretical perspectives about the influence of media power on the accumulation of power in society and provides lessons for groups communicating in competitive contexts Media Inequality is thus valuable to scholars academics and research students in the fields of journalism communication and media particularly scholars interested in how journalists represent political industrial and social contestation Contested and Shared Places of Memory Jorg Hackmann,Marko Lehti,2013-09-13 The Baltic Russian debates on the past have become a hot spot of European memory politics Violent protests and international tensions accompanying the removal of the Bronze Soldier monument which commemorated the Soviet liberation of Tallinn in 1944 from the city centre in April 2007 have demonstrated the political impact that contested sites of memory may still reveal In this publication collective memories that are related to major traits of the 20th century in North Eastern Europe the Holocaust Nazi and Soviet occupation and re emerging nationalisms are examined through a prism of different approaches They comprise reflections on national templates of collective memory the political use of history cultural and political aspects of war memorials and recent discourses on the Holocaust Furthermore places of memory in architecture and urbanism are addressed and lead to the question of which prospects common trans national forms of memory may unfold After decades of frozen forms of commemoration under Soviet hegemony the Baltic case offers an interesting insight into collective memory and history politics and their linkage to current political and inter ethnic relationships The past seems to be remembered differently in the European peripheries than it is in its centre Europe is diverse and so are its memories This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Baltic Studies Emerging Values in Health Care Stephen Pattison,Ben Hannigan,Roisin Pill,2010 This volume explains how health care professions and their values have changed over the last forty years charting where they have come from where they are now and how they might develop in the future There is coverage of a wide range of professions within healthcare Chapters are followed by critical responses from senior practitioners State and Nation-Building in Pakistan Roger D. Long,Gurharpal Singh,Yunas Samad,Ian Talbot,2015-10-08 Religion violence and ethnicity are all intertwined in the history of Pakistan The entrenchment of landed interests operationalized through violence ethnic identity and power through successive regimes has created a system of authoritarian clientalism This book offers comparative historicist and multidisciplinary views on the role of identity politics in the development of Pakistan Bringing together perspectives on the dynamics of state building the book provides insights into contemporary processes of national contestation which are crucially affected by their treatment in the world media and by the reactions they elicit within an increasingly globalised polity It investigates the resilience of landed elites to political and social change and in the years after partition looks at the impact on land holdings of population transfer It goes on to discuss religious identities and their role in both the construction of national identity and in the development of sectarianism The book highlights how ethnicity and identity politics are an enduring marker in Pakistani politics and why they are increasingly powerful and influential An insightful collection on a range of perspectives on the dynamics of identity politics and the nation state this book on Pakistan will be a useful contribution to South Asian Politics South Asian History and Islamic Studies

Damaged Identities, Narrative Repair Hilde Lindemann, 2001 The nature of identity especially of groups such as Gypsies mothers nurses and transsexuals is explored by comparing the stories these groups express of themselves against the narratives written about them Feminist Academic Press Hilde Lindemann Nelson focuses on the stories of groups of people including Gypsies mothers nurses and transsexuals whose identities have been defined by those with the power to speak for them and to constrain the scope of their actions By placing their stories side by side with narratives about the groups in question Nelson arrives at some important insights regarding the nature of identity She regards personal identity as consisting not only of how people view themselves but also of how others view them These perceptions combine to shape the person's field of action If a dominant group constructs the identities of certain people through socially shared narratives that mark them as morally subnormal those who bear the damaged identity cannot exercise their moral agency freely Nelson identifies two kinds of damage inflicted on identities by abusive group relations one kind deprives individuals of important social goods and the other deprives them of self respect To intervene in the production of either kind of damage Nelson develops the counterstory a strategy of resistance that allows the identity to be narratively repaired and so restores the person to full membership in the social and moral community By attending to the power dynamics that constrict agency Damaged Identities Narrative Repair augments the narrative approaches of ethicists such as Alasdair MacIntyre Martha Nussbaum Richard Rorty and Charles Taylor
